KITCHENER CALLS FOR MORE CANADIANS

PRIZE WINNERS IN COMPETITION ARE HIGH CLASS

Blowey-Henry Co. Take the First Prize in First Section

SIXTY-FIVE ENTRIES TAKE PART IN CONTEST

Many Window Dressings Show Much Originality of Design

"Time to buy your ticket for the horse show," gravely announces the grandfather clock in the Blowey-Henry company's window, the first prize winner in section 1, of the horse show window dressing competition. With its blue and gold walls, and upholstering, the window breathes Horse Show. In such environment it is quite natural that the youthful occupant should be driving full tilt to the horse show.

The Johnstone Walker Co. runs the winner a close second with its striking window in which the handsome Johnstone Walker cup is a prominent feature, amongst saddles, whips and other riding equipment. The huge blue bunting studded with gold nails provides an attractive background for the rider awaiting her horse in front.

The Hudson's Bay Co.'s window with its blue and gold panelled walls and richly gowned women is very attractive though less striking.

Ash Bros. Screen Rich

Ash Bros. window is one which scores high in all requirements of the competition. Original in design, artistic in effect, its advertising value could not be questioned. In one window a richly caparisoned Knight of Old rides off on a tournament in lance. Later a soldier of the King awaits his call to the front. The blue and gold provide an effective background for the jewelers display, and the motto, "Books Watches and Bonds. Let the Horses do the Kicking," is worth taking to heart.

Excellent Small Window

The display of H. G. Willis, Namayo avenue, is an example of what can be done in a small window. Seated in a silver basket carriage, surrounded with daffodils, a girl drives a tandem under an artistic gold arch, on the foundations of which are inscribed the motto: "Business as Usual."

In Jackson Bros. windows the outstanding features are two huge blue and gold horseshoes, and an attractive display of silver and jewels.

A real live soldier—aged four, has mounted his prancing charger bedecked and ridden towards the horseshoe arch in Snowden. Murphy's window. His blue uniform is bravely laced with gold, and his cap sports a gay cockade. Sword and pistol are by his side, and from top of head to tip of shoe no detail of equipment has been forgotten. He is a happy warrior too, and by beams from every inch of his face. See him at the horse show on Children's Day.

Show Pastoral Scene

The background of the display in the window of the Enterprise Dairy Co., Jasper West, is a pastoral scene. Under a huge horseshoe in one corner two Jersey cows are grazing from the pasture linger, loath to leave its shade and the brown loam path, for the bright sunlight that lies in front, even though hungry consumers are awaiting cream and milk.

It might be stated here that on the recommendation of the judges, the directors of the Exhibition Association decided to divide Class 2, placing grocers and confectioners in one class, and meat shops in another. The florists' shops will also be in class by themselves. And all Edmonton South stores are all included in one group.

Paradise in Springtime

Paradise in springtime is suggested by Walter Ramsey's display at Jasper East, with its daffodil bordered walks, clumps of blue hyacinth "shrubbery,"

Second Canadian Expeditionary Force Will Be Sent Forward in Immediate Future

OTTAWA, April 11.—(By Bulletin Leased Wire)—Lord Kitchener has called on Canada for a second expeditionary force. The news was given parliament Saturday night by Premier Sir Robert Borden, who said that the call had been expected for some time.

Three months ago, said the premier, Lord Kitchener was informed that the force was ready in Canada to board ships and sail for Europe. Premier Borden stated that since that time the war office had been kept fully informed on its training and has from time to time made suggestions which had been followed with absolute precision by the Canadian authorities. Now that the summons has come the second expeditionary force would go forward at an unrevealed date in the near future to join the first expeditionary campaign force now at the front.

The Canadian second expeditionary force had not been summoned sooner "for reasons which commend themselves to the head war office and reasons which are generally recognized," said the prime minister.

Edmonton Men In Winnipeg Are Invalided From Front

Corporal W. H. Holmes and Private A. J. Lewis Tell of Experiences of Seven and Half Weeks on Firing Line in Trenches—German Snipers Did Great Havoc Among Canadians

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

WINNIPEG, April 11.—Direct from the firing line in France after seven and a half weeks in the first line of trenches, two Edmonton men, Corporal W. H. Holmes and Private A. J. Lewis, of the Princess Patricias Light Infantry, having been invalided home after being pronounced mentally unfit for further service as a result of their experiences at the front, for all that time they listened to the shriek of shrapnel and the whiz of snipers bullets and the thunder of heavy artillery. All the time the Edmonton men were within 25 yards of the German trenches and in the night time the voice of the German soldiers could be plainly heard. To that extent was none of the friendly familiarities recognized as often in the papers.

Corporal Holmes says no mistake should be made as to the ability of the shopkeepers of the Germans among whom there are many crack shots. Quite a number of the British were picked off by snipers who got behind the lines of the allies. They say the Canadians while at the front are getting the best of both in the bases, not their full allowances, but a few francs to keep them in small change.

Holmes and Lewis state they have suffered from the Germans' gifts. The Teutons say they do not know or get the right hour of the day in some wheels. Many of them were sick and tired of the war.

The Edmonton men arrived in France at end of December and went directly to the trenches. There they remained for nearly two months when finally crashed with rheumatism, brought on by exposure. Both were pronounced medically unfit.

Holmes is a South African veteran and was formerly in the First Royal Dragoons. Lewis comes from Australia and was in the New South Wales Borderers.

LORD HALDANE—Who in a recent interview with a press correspondent discussed the war very fully. He thinks if the allies win, no nation in the future will likely pin its faith to armaments.

Big Campaign For Recruiting In Old Country

Fifteen Hundred Meetings Are to Be Addressed in Next Fortnight

By Bulletin Leased Wire

LONDON, April 11.—A great patriotic campaign to secure recruits for Earl Kitchener's new army was opened in London today. The campaign is to be carried on for a fortnight.

Meetings addressed by Liberal Unionist, Labor and Irish members of parliament were held in Hyde Park, Trafalgar Square and other centres of the capital, while recruiting sergeants distributed pamphlets showing the pay, separation allowances given to soldiers of the king. As the result of the Trafalgar Square meeting 200 recruits registered at the chief recruiting depot nearby.

During the fortnight's campaign 1500 meetings will be held while troops will engage in street marching.

RELIEF BOAT FROM NEW YORK IS TORPEDOED

Steamer Harpalyce is Sunk in North Sea Off Dutch Coast

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

ROTTERDAM, April 11.—The British steamer Harpalyce the first relief boat of New York state and under charter to the commission for relief in Belgium has been torpedoed in the North sea.

The Dutch steamer Elizabeth, on its voyage from Rotterdam for New York, picked up 22 of the crew of the Harpalyce some miles northeast of Noorhinder lightship and brought them back to Rotterdam. The Dutch steamer Consul is also gathering picked up the men and took them to Nieuwe Waterweg. The steamer carried a crew of 53 men. 26 of whom it is feared, have been drowned. Those rescued by the Elizabeth included the second mate and the second engineer. The latter is a native Hollander. The Harpalyce, under its charter to the Belgian relief commission had a permit securing immunity from attack. The Harpalyce was torpedoed sixteen miles of Noorhinder. The Dutch steamer Elizabeth was the first to the rescue and altogether 38 of the crew were rescued by that vessel.

Two others are believed to have been saved by the American steamer Ridy. Some of the survivors were badly wounded. The captain and first engineer are thought to have been drowned. Survivors say they heard nothing but an explosion. The vessel sank in five minutes and there was no time to lower boats. The captain of the Elizabeth declared he clearly saw the periscope of a submarine.

LIBERALS OF WAINWRIGHT HOLD SPLENDID CONVENTION

Annual Business Meeting of Provincial Organization is Full of Enthusiasm For Liberal Cause—Able Speeches Made by D. W. Warner, Federal Candidate; T. W. Qualye, H. E. Perry, S. G. Lewis and Others

Special to the Bulletin.

WAINWRIGHT, April 10. — That Wainwright Liberalism is of the brilliant type was amply evidenced on Saturday afternoon, when the farmers are busy on the land, fifty delegates attended the annual business meeting of the provincial Liberal association for the riding. It was a splendid convention and the delegates received the vision of the necessity of uniting the ranks of the party in view of the general election in the defeat of the Liberal candidate. Mr. Hudson's hiring up behind a railroad policy which evolved the endorsation of a promoter whose S.S.F. check was exposed in the legislature and the declaration that the province does not need further railroad construction has startled the people. The stand of the Conservative party that further railway construction is decidedly unpopular with all classes of the community.

Dr. Little Presides.

Dr. Little presided at the convention and the proceedings were characterized in a progressive tone. All through the reports showed that the officers had looked well to the affairs of the riding and had secured considerable attention from the government. Many public appointments, road work and other work done by the government was done through the direct representations of members of the Central Liberal association.

New Officers Chosen.

The new officers are: Hon. presidents, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. A. Simpson; vice-president, D. W. Warner; president, Lee Wells, Wainwright; vice-president, east, S. S. Lewis of Chauvin; vice-president, west, S. Wyatt of Yarrow; secretary, G. H. Hamilton of Wainwright; treasurer, Vernon Graham, of Wainwright. These, with the officers of the different polling sections, constitute the central executive.

W. A. Buchanan, Liberal organizer for the province was present and gave the delegates a lot of useful hints on how to do the work and explain the system of organization. Mr. Warner also addressed the meeting.

Resolutions were passed endorsing Sir Wilfrid Laurier and declaring for free trade with Great Britain and reciprocity with the United States.

A resolution was passed endorsed the Sifton administration and placed special emphasis on the progressive railway policy as designed to build up the province.

A resolution was also passed paying tribute to Dr. Little, the retiring president.

Public Meeting.

At night the Elite theatre was well filled at a public meeting which proved strongly favorable to Mr. D. W. Warner, the Liberal candidate selected for Battle River riding. Before the meeting the Wainwright Citizens' band, a most creditable musical organization, played a select program which was greatly appreciated. Dr. Little was again chairman and was supported on the platform by the newly elected officials and the speakers. Mr. Lewis of Chauvin was the first speaker and dwelt on the glowing prospects of Liberalism in Wainwright and referred briefly to the sympathy between the Liberal party and the agricultural interests. Mr. Lewis predicted that it would not be long before the agricultural products of the west would far exceed the manufactured products in value and that the eastern manufacturers cannot exist without the western markets.

Deals With Provincial Issues.

T. W. Quayle, Edmonton, secretary of the Alberta Federal Liberal association, was the next speaker and dealt with provincial issues especially with the attitude of the Conservative leaders, and Mr. Hudson, in obstructing railway development. The speaker was not long in touching a responsive chord and as he produced the much talked of N.S.F. check produced in the legislature, of Leader Michener's tenderer for the St. Paul de Metis line he aroused great enthusiasm in the audience.

The speaker also dealt with the public debt, sources of provincial revenue and the ability of the province to furnish money for railway construction.

BERNSTORFF HAS ANOTHER PROTEST

Makes Public Text of Note Recently Sent to U. S. State Department

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, April 11. — Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, made public today the text of the note he recently presented to the state department declaring that if the American people desired to observe true neutrality they will find means to stop the embargo against the export of arms to one side or at least to use this export trade as a means to uphold the legitimate trade with Germany especially the trade in foodstuffs."

The memorandum was prepared at the German embassy and while it does not call for a reply the state department already has granted one which will be delivered probably in the next few days.

The ambassador in his complaint informs the United States that contrary to the real spirit of neutrality an enormous new industry of war material of every kind is being built up in this country and that this is "supplying only Germany's enemies, a fact which is in no way modified by the purely theoretical willingness to furnish Germany as well, if it were possible."

ANOTHER GERMAN SEA ROVER COMES TO NEWPORT NEWS

Kron Prinz Wilhelm at U. S. Port After Long Career

SUNK 15 VESSELS SINCE LAST AUGUST

Managed to Elude Allies' Warships For Long Period

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 11.—The German auxiliary cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm another of the elusive German sea rovers which have been destroying commerce since the outbreak of the war, arrived in Hampton Roads this morning. Presumably the Kron Prinz Wilhelm comes here like her sister ship, the Prinz Eitel Fredrich, for repairs and provisions, or possibly to be interned for the war.

When the Kron Prinz Wilhelm came into port here it was learned that she had sunk 15 vessels during her commerce raiding cruise after leaving New York last August. She has on board 215 persons taken from the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co.'s South American service Tamar and the British steamer Appleby, which sailed from Galveston, February 10, and Newport News March 4 for Marseilles with a cargo of cotton. The vessels sunk by the Kron Prinz Wilhelm included 2 flying the French and one Norwegian.

The Kron Prinz Wilhelm in command of Captain-Lieutenant Thierfelder. Upon arrival her surgeon came ashore and requested permission to land the 66 persons who were reported sick. He said, however there was no case of contagious disease aboard. The only armament visible aboard the Kron Prinz Wilhelm are three-inch and a number or rapid fire guns.

New York, April 3rd.

New York, April 11.—The German auxiliary cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm formerly one of the North German Lloyd liners, suddenly slipped out of her berth at Hoboken on the evening of August 2, 1914, an dbegan a raid on commerce of the allied countries in which she is reported to have sunk 15 vessels.

When the auxiliary cruiser sailed out of New York harbor, her hull was painted battleship grey and she had on board 2,000 tons of coal in excess of what she would need to cross the Atlantic. Also on board were hundreds of tons of sea stores, which led to the belief that her mission was to carry her supplies and fuel to the German cruisers Dresden and Karlsruhe which at the time were known to be in the North Atlantic dodging the British warships and seeking an opportunity to replenish their stores.

The Kron Prinz Wilhelm was last sighted at sea on March 14. On that date she was reported accompanied by a collier to be standing 10 miles off the island of Fernandino de Noronha in the South Atlantic.

On Sea by American Boats.

The commerce raiding operations of the Kron Prinz Wilhelm were confined chiefly to capturing and sinking British merchantmen on the shipping route to the Argentine and Brazil. Among her victims were the British steamships Hyades, Strathroy, Thordis, Polaro and Viscount Humphries, and the sailing ships Wilfrid and Saint Olaf. The crew of these ships were taken aboard the cruiser, and later transferred to the German steamer Holger which landed them at Buenos Aires. The Kron Prinz Wilhelm reported to have had several narrow escapes from capture by British warships. On one occasion she was reported to have been sighted by British cruisers while transferring a cargo of coal to the Karlsruhe and Karlsruhe off the Bahamas. Both German ships, however, succeeded in eluding the British warships.

ITALY'S PRICE FOR ABANDONMENT OF HER NEUTRALITY

ROME, April 11.—The Italian press has taken up the question of the conditions under which Italy might abandon her attitude of neutrality and enter the war. Amongst the conditions they mention is the cession to Italy or possession of the Italian province now held by Austria, supremacy in the Adriatic and a share in the partition of Turkey, enabling Italy to protect her interests in the eastern Mediterranean.

ORDERED TO PRIZE COURT.

LONDON, April 11.—The cargo of cotton on board the steamship Nevada from Galveston for Bremen was ordered to a prize court today under the British order in council of March 11 for detention.

The Nevada was the first to the rescue and altogether 38 of the crew were rescued by that vessel.

Two others are believed to have been saved by the American steamer Ridy. Some of the survivors were badly wounded. The captain and first engineer are thought to have been drowned. Survivors say they heard nothing but an explosion. The vessel sank in five minutes and there was no time to lower boats. The captain of the Elizabeth declared he clearly saw the periscope of a submarine.

FRENCH OFFENSIVE IN WOEVRE BELIEVED TO BE PRELUDE TO BIG EFFORT

General Staffs of French and Germans Are in Direct Conflict as to Results of Fighting, But It Is Believed Germans Will Have to Send Reinforcements to St. Mihiel District—Russians Are Making Important Captures in East—Fighting Under Extremely Difficult Conditions

By Bulletin Leased Wire

LONDON, April 11.—The French offensive in the Woevre, which, according to official reports from Paris, continues to make progress, although the Germans reiterate that all French attacks have been repulsed, it is believed is but the prelude of a big general effort in the west. With the two general staffs in direct conflict as to the results of the fighting. Military experts here, however express the conviction that the Germans will be compelled to send reinforcements to strengthen their wedge, which penetrate to St. Mihiel and which is being attacked on both flanks, and that as soon as this movement begins the allies will strike at the point thus weakened, and perhaps the whole line.

With the operations in this district of France those in the Carpathians divide interest which is being hardly satisfied with the meagre official reports from the various headquarters. The Russians, like the French, are apparently making progress in the capture of important points which are essential before a general forward movement can be undertaken. They are in possession of the whole principal chain of the Carpathians and the passes are descending into the southern slopes and are approaching the plains not already in the Uzok valley, south of the pass of that name.

The fighting is going on under extremely difficult conditions—the ground being covered with snow which is commencing to soften, while the Austro-Germans continue to bring up great masses in an endeavor to check the advance. The Russians, however, appear to have confidence in their ability to handle the task, for simultaneously they are showing considerable activity over the Germans and to the south of the Vistula, where the Germans say they have repulsed a Russian attack.

FRENCH REPORT.

PARIS, via London, April 11. (11.45 p.m.)—The following official communication was issued by the French war office tonight:

"To the north of Albert the Germans during the course of Saturday night delivered an attack on the two banks of the Ancre river against our trenches at Hamel and in the Thiepval wood but they were repulsed after hand-to-hand fighting. In the Argonne the fighting developed into a sharp struggle lasting all night and we demolished a blockhouse and captured about 300 yards of a trench. We have maintained our gain, notwithstanding two German counter attacks.

"In the Ailly wood an attack delivered on the evening of the 9th made us masters of a new line of trenches. At the Montgarni wood the Germans succeeded during the night in regaining the trenches which they had lost in the course of the day. The positions which we won on the 8th remain completely in our possession. In the forest of Le Prette two violent counter attacks by the enemy melted away under our infantry and artillery fire. Our aeroplanes have dropped bombs on the munition station at Foundry at Bruges."

"At Les Eparges the enemy has unbroken no action either with infantry or artillery and the day passed entirely. The points are defended in our power and statement of prisoners enumerates the importance of our success.

"The Germans since the end of February in the region of the Meuse, the entire twenty-third division of reserves. Then, from the end of March, when that division was exhausted, the tenth active division of the fifth army, reinforced by the elite of the best troops of another army, was brought up. It is the division which has just lost the veritable fortress constructed on the spur of Les Eparges.

"The troops had frequently been ordered to hold on at all hazards; they were told that the position was of the greatest importance and their general

CONSERVATIVES FIGHT RAILWAY TO PEACE RIVER

Line Should Be Left Unbuilt Says Nelson Spencer of Medicine Hat —Leader of the Opposition, E. Michener, Describes Proposal as Improvident, Prodigal and Insane— Debate Not Yet Concluded

"It would be criminal for the province to make the loan at the present time, and there is only one thing to do—leave the road unbuilt. Two millions just cost the people of Alberta a mile of road! Just think of it! Let us get back to our senses."—Nelson Spencer, Conservative member for Medicine Hat.

"Improvident, prodigal, and insane—that is the only way I can describe it."—Edward Michener, leader of the opposition.

The above statements summarize the attitude of the provincial conservatives towards the proposed loan to the Central Canada Railway company for the purpose of rushing the construction of the much-needed line from McLennan to Peace River Crossing. The two gentlemen necessitating the loan have been previously set forth in these columns, but it may be recalled that owing to the present state of the money market it has not been possible for the company to sell the bonds guaranteed by the provinces and that the work connecting up the city of Edmonton with the hundreds of miles of unsettled land in the Peace river and the thousands of homesteaders who have settled north and west of Peace River Crossing is now at a standstill. Mr. J. D. McArthur has guaranteed the construction of 100 miles of construction, at the McLennan end of the line, out of his own pocket, for the balance of the distance to the Crossing the engineering work is of the heaviest possible description. There are fifty-eight bridges in fifteen miles, and the task is of such a colossal character that it would be absolutely impossible for the work to proceed for a considerable time unless the legislature came to the assistance of the company.

Bonds Not Yet Sold.

The bonds were originally guaranteed for a distance of one hundred miles, or $2,000 per mile, or a total guarantee of two million dollars. Owing to the great cost of construction of the first fifty miles, however, the legislature at the fall session has put through a special act, permitting the guarantee of two millions to be applied on a distance of 100 miles, or up to eighty per cent. of the cost of construction.

As the bonds have not been sold, however, Premier Sifton proposes in view of the present scarcity of the railway reaching the Crossing this year, or at least the company can amount not exceeding the present guarantee, and not exceeding eighty per cent. of the cost of the first fifty miles.

Following the lead of Mr. Tweedie, who stated that no more railways are needed at the present time, and that the province cannot maintain the mileage it now has, Mr. Michener and Mr. Spencer on Saturday roundly condemned the government for ever thinking of coming to the assistance of the company in order to open up the famed Peace River district. The former declared that under said government's policy of building railways was getting to the stage reached by the reactionaries already in the province, and the time had come to call a halt. Mr. Spencer went still further in his proposal, which was that the government, instead of rushing the railway to completion at the present time, should erect elevators through the Peace River district and buy up the grain and hold it there—a new idea which may not accrue very much enthusiasm in the north.

Attack J. D. McArthur.

Both Mr. Michener and Mr. Spencer attacked Mr. J. D. McArthur. This brought to his feet J. L. Cote, the member for Athabasca. Mr. Cote recalled R. B. Bennett's lament during the famous S. and E. scandal. "If only he had a man of J. D. McArthur's standing to build this road," Mr. Cote may be said to have spoken all about that statement.

Mr. Cote also referred to the thief on the north country by Mr. Hillocks, who had said that there were only one and a half miles of the province of Edmonton fit for settlement. Mr. Cote stated that there are fifteen million acres of arable land in the Peace River district, and at the present time forty-eight townships relative to the E. D. and B. C. railway have been filed upon. Mr. Hillocks said that that didn't prove anything, but Mr. Cote retorted that it proved that the land was fit for settlement.

Few Present in Evening.

The house sat on Saturday after-

SUBSTITUTE FOR GASOLINE FOUND BY EASTERN MAN

By Bulletin Leased Wire

OTTAWA, April 11.—After a decade of experimenting in the Province, scientist claims he has found a substitute for gasoline and at a test before several officials of the public works department Saturday, two gallons of the new fluid mixed with two quarts of water, proved sufficient to run a 25-horse power engine for an hour and a half without stoppage. The discoverer, who is Gideon Charbonneau, of Hull, claims he will be able to manufacture the liquid, which he calls "Charbonoil" in any quantity at four cents per gallon. The liquid does not give off any smoke, and the inventor asserts it will revolutionize the automobile and other industries.

CALGARY TROOPS ARE DEFENDED IN LEGISLATURE

W. F. Puffer Brings up Attack Made by Calgary Committee

STATEMENTS MADE ABSOLUTELY FALSE

Other Speakers Condemn Members of Committee Making Attacks

W. F. Puffer, the Liberal member for Lacombe, moved the adjournment of the legislative assembly on Saturday afternoon in order to call attention to the published report of a committee of Calgary citizens containing serious allegations concerning the conduct of the soldiers quartered in the southern city. Characterizing the report as "palpably false" Mr. Puffer said that one of his own sons is with the troops at Calgary, and he had visited the barracks on many occasions and everything that he had seen had always given him a feeling of intense pride in the boys who had left their homes throughout the province in order to join the colors and assist the empire. Chief Cuddy, of Calgary, had also authorized him to say that not a single complaint had been made to his department regarding improper conduct on the part of the soldiers, and he had never seen a body of men so well conducted.

T. M. Tweedie, the Conservative member for Centre Calgary, stated that the report was "absolutely false," and although it might have been prepared in good faith, it seemed to him that the committee displayed an overzeal in undertaking something that they were not called upon to assume.

Other Speakers Agree.

S. Bacon Hillocks, the Conservative member for North Calgary, said the report was "vile and slanderous," and a "most contemptible and damnable thing." Other speeches were made along similar lines by J. G. Turgeon Rhinstone; George Hoadley, Okotoks; J. A. McColl, Acadia; and R. Patterson, Macleod. Capt. Eaton, of Hamilton, who is attached to Col. Mason's regiment at Calgary, took no part in the discussion. It was explained that officers are precluded by military law from replying to attacks of this nature, and this was the reason the matter was brought forward in the house. No resolution was moved by either of the speakers, Mr. Puffer stating that the publication of the speeches in the press would answer the purpose he had in view.

During the course of his remarks Mr. Puffer said he felt that some recognition of the matter should be taken by the house, in order to repair what he conceived to be a great wrong perpetrated on the military forces quartered in the province. The report in question alleged constant drunken and disolute habits on the part of the soldiers, and added that members of the committee had been insulted and assaulted by soldiers and supporters of hotels, and one member of the committee had been surrounded and beaten.

Gone Beyond Truth.

Mr. Puffer said there was no question as to the right of the committee to ask for the closing of the bars at seven in the evening, but in producing arguments to support that request they had gone far beyond the realm of truth, and had cast a slur on thousands of well-conducted young men who belonged to respectable families in the province. There was nothing to substantiate the statements that had been made, and it was deplorable that such a report had been issued.

One of his own sons was quartered with the troops at Calgary, and he had visited him from time to time, as well as scores of other young men whom he had known from their boyhood, and after all his visits he had always come away with a feeling of intense pride in the boys who had gentlemen, and he had never heard the flag. There were farmers' sons, bank clerks, artizans, college students and university graduates, and of a very high type, the pick of the province, and only a parent could adequately feel the gravity of the sacrifice they had been made. All the soldiers he had seen conducted themselves as gentlemen, and he hs dnever heard one word that could not have been spoken in that legislature.

Officers Well Fited.

The officers, said Mr. Puffer, were of a similar type, and well fitted to command such a fine body of men. He had dined at the officers' mess, and had never seen a sign of liquor there. He knew that the officers appreciated the men the human beings, and the men, on their part, realized that discipline was necessary, and endured their drill cheerfully. He had never seen a single intoxicated soldier on the streets of Calgary, and on only two occasions had he seen soldiers with what symptoms of intoxication on the streets of Edmonton. Frequently he had seen soldiers walking with ladies on the street—possibly their wives, sweethearts, sisters or mothers—and this was a commendable thing, for there was nothing better than the influence of refinement society on young men. All these young women he had seen had been of a very superior type, and the suggestions contained in the Calgary report constituted a base and despicable slander. He had also been assured that there was no disease due to dissipation among the soldiers.

Mr. Puffer said he would not be surprised if the report were due to German espionage, for the purpose of weakening the spirit of the troops and to prevent recruiting. One of the members of the committee alleged that he expected to hear from some of the soldiers, but Mr. Puffer said that for his part he would have given something more than a blow would the circumstances. He was surprised in the first instance to see W. G. Hunt's name appended to the report, but gratified afterwards to see that gentleman's denial.

Mr. Tweedie Agrees.

Mr. Tweedie agreed with Mr. Puffer and said the impression given by the investigating committe with regard to the moral status of the city was absolutely false. So far as the public care of morals was concerned, he did not think there was a city in Canada which had two better officers in charge of the administration of the law—he referred to Chief Cuddy and Col. Sanders, who were above reproach. So far as prostitution was concerned, he had no hesitation in saying that it was at a minimum at Calgary at the present time, and the law was very strictly enforced. Soldiers were human beings, and no better or worse than any other class of people. He was personally acquainted with a large number of them. They were all young men of a very high standard. There might be some who were not worthy of the uniform they wore, but it was not up to this self-constituted committee to investigate the military conduct of these men. The officers had endeavored to weed out undesirables, and a number had been dismissed for intoxication and violation of the rules. The reflections contained in the report had been repudiated by the whole body of citizens.

Publication Causes Distress.

It would not be long, said Mr. Tweedie, before the soldiers would be at the front, and the enemy often would not have very many more days on earth, and the committee had endeavored to injure the men unwarranted way with the privileges the soldiers now enjoy. The publication of the unfounded charges must have temporarily caused great distress, grief and shame on the part of many of the wives of the men scattered throughout the province. It seemed to him that the committee was endeavoring to further the interests of the prohibition campaign. He was not there to say whether any action should be taken to close bars at seven at night, or to say whether prohibition should come or not—he hoped it would be a fair and clean fight—but he did not believe that soldiers should be slandered in order that the cause of prohibition might be advanced.

Mr. Hillocks Protests.

S. Bacon Hillocks, the member for North Calgary, said a number of the soldiers came from his section of the city, and he wanted to record his protest against the vile and slanderous statements contained in the most contemptible and damnable report.

J. G. Turgeon, Rhinstone, also said a number of the soldiers at Calgary came from his constituency. The committee should have had enough delicacy to refrain from attacking men who were fighting the King's uniform. Wives and children had suffered enough already by the separation they had unwillingly undergone, without the calumnies heaped upon the soldiers by the report.

George Hoadley, Okotoks, said that during his duties as recruiting officer he had seen a great deal of soldiers and could say that the report was not true. Some people were always trying to poke their noses into other people's business. He knew of one man who examined the hay being fed to the military horses, and afterwards got a private letter about its quality.

J. A. McColl, Acadia, who has two brothers with the forces, and R. Patterson, Macleod, also spoke. The matter ended by Mr. Puffer withdrawing the motion for adjournment.

THE LIBERALS OF WAINWRIGHT HOLD

nue, etc., and showed that Mr. Michener in opposing this system was in favor of placing a direct tax on the settlers who are bearing the pioneering burdens of the province.

In conclusion the speaker dwelt briefly on federal affairs and in view of the imminence of a conflict warned the settlers to be vigilant especially in watching the enumerators, and to insure the election of a "right" man for a fair voters' list. He struck a popular note in drawing attention to the horde of federal officials running the province, especially homesteading grants and inspectors and buffalo hostlers.

Mr. Warner Speaks.

Mr. Warner was the last speaker and received a flattering reception. He dealt in a non-partisan way with the platform which aligns closely to the tenets of the Liberal party, and amid applause he told the audience that in entering active politics he considered it his duty to assist and wait his activities in the interests of the farmers of Alberta. Mr. Warner referred to his years of untiring effort for the farmers and said in going to the front he was doing so still further their interests and thus assist in the general interests of the western province and also of the towns.

Mr. Warner won the sympathy of the audience when he touched the issues in the tariff against the mother country, especially the British preferential, in bearing the full financial brunt of the war, including every duty on which was a specific. He said money is about the biggest factor in prosecuting the war, and England is to continue bearing the burden she has for commerce has got to be kept active. In Canada, however, we have a government which is squandering the money by raising the tariff to stifle British trade. Warner spoke of the necessity of trade with Great Britain and judging from the applause the audience did not agree with him. He said at the front the western farmer is contributing as much as any class to the war by staying with the plow and hoe to produce sufficient to feed the people during the period of financial stress.

Mr. Warner also endorsed the policy of free trade with the United States and urged that farmers were entitled to the privilege of selling in the American market whenever prices made it profitable to do so.

The Liberal candidate also expressed himself as favoring the taking over control of the banks and the encouragement of cooperative credit societies among the farmers with money from the federal government to control them into opportunities of benefit.

Effective Platform Spoken.

Mr. Warner, always a fluent speaker at Farmers' Institutes and U. F. A. gatherings is developing into an effective platform orator and made a fine impression.

The meeting closed with the singing of God Save the King and three cheers and a tiger for the popular Liberal candidate.

Hon. Charles Stewart, who was billed to be present, sent his regrets owing to the pressure of sessional duties. He will visit the riding later.

and fern "woods" in the background. The McIntosh Perfect show is gay with blue and gold. ferns, ivy and asters.

The keynote of the Arcade confectionery display is a saddle, bridle and whip effect. Mayor Short, of Edmonton City Dairy has a pair of horses carved from butter. The Podmore Dairy has horses modelled from butter as the motif of their display.

Those who went to the market are found in P. Burns' window—only they are going to the horse show—principally the high class kind. In the window of the National Meat Market on Norwood Boulevard a gaudy rooster is driving a team of swine attached to a wagon loaded with farm produce. McGill & Hetherington have a typical sporting goods window.

In Douglas Bros. window a gallant hunter is taking a water jump, with a hurdle before him—the horse show.

Yuill bros. have a bright window with a lattice background of blue and gold, and a display of fruits and groceries. A striking feature announces the date of the horse show.

There are only a few of many handsome displays, and the interest of the merchants is shown by the fact that the number of entries have increased from 48 last year to 53 this year. There was a large increase of entries on the South Side. Further comments will appear at a later date.

in the history of the province. At the beginning of the evening session the house was nearly counted out by the Speaker. When the latter took the chair the only member on the opposition benches was Nelson Spencer, the Conservative member for Medicine Hat, who had moved the adjournment of the debate at the close of the afternoon session. Several of the other opposition members were in the corridors, hoping that the attempt would be dissolved, but no quorum was found among government supporters, and Mr. Spencer had to resume his address. As soon as he was on his feet Mr. Michener and several supporters trooped into the chamber.

Mr. Michener had the floor at the beginning of the afternoon session. He criticized the new departure in the way of direct loans for railway building, and also the security for the loan, and said he was afraid the money would never be returned to the province. If the company had to beg for a loan because it would not sell the land, he would be able to confine strict the branch to Grande Prairie? It was the duty of the government to guard jealously the credit of the province, and there was no doubt in his mind that its credit would be seriously impaired as the result of this latest deal.

Mr. Michener went on to say that the rate of interest on bonds to-day was gradually going up from 4½ to 5 per cent.

Premier Sifton: No bonds have ever been issued at a lower rate than four. Some short-term treasury bills were issued at 3.5-8.

Says Dangerous to Endorse Bonds.

Mr. Michener said it was dangerous to endorse bonds, anyway. Many private individuals in the province had been called upon to pay. Mr. McArthur had never had any experience as a railway operator, and had lots of nerve to ask for the loan. He should be able to reach Peace River Crossing on his own credit. It was improvident, prodigal and insane to ask for such a large amount at the present time. The premier might have the backing of his supporters in the house, but he would not have the backing of the Liberals of the province.

J. L. Cote, the Liberal member for Grouard, was not only in favor of the loan to the Central Canada, but said he was in favor of lending Mr. McArthur the money to build the branch line to Grouard, which was the oldest and largest town along the route of the E. D. and B.C. railway. The town sent a delegation to the Dominion minister of railways, who told them to make a survey, and if it could be shown that it was possible for the railway to enter Grouard, he would order it at once. On the strength of this statement, the town council and several citizens financed a survey to the end of a man like Mr. McArthur was at the head of the undertaking, but now Mr. Michener scored the government for supporting Mr. McArthur in his great task of giving railway communications to the north of the province. There were two classes of men who could build railways very cheaply—the men with no financial responsibility, and the men with no knowledge of the work.

The member for Grouard said he wished to take issue with Mr. Hillocks, who had informed the house that there were only one and a half million acres in the Peace River district that were fit for settlement.

Mr. Hillocks: I meant of prairie land.

J. A. Cote went on to say that in 1877 the C.P.R. issued a report prepared by John McCoun, showing that there were fifteen million acres of arable land in the Peace River district. The homestead map issued by the department of the interior had fail showed that over one million acres had been taken up. The C.N.R. had been taken up. This was sufficient to show how urgent it was to construct more railways, and thus help those who had their granaries full of grain.

Deplores Free Trade in Charters.

Nelson Spencer, the Conservative member for Medicine Hat, deplored free trade in railway charters, and said the government was granting railway which would never be built. The bonds for the Central Canada had been already endorsed by the government, and if the bonds could be issued when the government should erect elevators through the district and buy the grain and hold it there rather than make a loan and rush the railway to completion at the present time, it was criminal, in view of the prevailing depression, to make the loan, and there was only one thing to do—leave the road unbuilt.

The other speakers were John Kemmis, of Pincher Creek and R. Patterson, of Macleod, the latter moving the adjournment of the debate. The house will convene this afternoon at four o'clock.

said that in order to keep it he would sacrifice the division, or the army corps, or 100,000 men. If necessary, he would be pressed by the Germans at Les Eparges during the last two months amounted to 30,000 men.

RUSSIAN REPORT.

PETROGRAD via London, April 11.—(1.28 a.m.)—The following Russian official statement regarding the fighting in the eastern theatre of the war given out here last night reads:

"To the west of the Niemen river at dawn on Friday we attacked the German positions between Kalwarya and Ludwinow, and after a stubborn battle we captured two lines of trenches. We took 600 prisoners among whom were several officers and eight machine guns.

"In the Carpathians, in the direction of Mezolaborcz, we took by offensive from positions near Czabolcz and dislodged the enemy from Wirasz. We captured Hill 928 and Hill 949, which means that the enemy has been driven back along the whole extent of the principal chain of the Carpathians in the region of our offensive.

"In the direction of Rostoki the enemy received considerable reinforcements Thursday and made violent counter attacks. We repulsed them at all points with great losses, including 20 officers. Our offensive from the line Nizna-Dourgan-Volosate-Bukowics today toward the south continues notwithstanding the excessively difficult local conditions.

"Forcing their way through snow more than seven feet deep our troops at several points approached within four miles of the Uzsok valley. Near Rosochacs and Rozanka, the enemy made two attacks which were block-ed."

TURKS IN PERSIA

PETROGRAD, April 11.—A telegram to the Bourse Gazette from Tiflis, Transcaucasia, says that the Turks have occupied Hamadan, a city of Persia, 165 miles southwest of Teheran. Hamadan is an entire port for the commerce between Bagdad and Persia and Teheran. It has a population of about 25,000.

To Absorb Freckles And Other Blemishes

Every spring numerous inquiries are made by girls seeking some reliable recipe for removing freckles. Last year very favorable reports were received from many who had used mercolized wax during the freckle season. The wax seems to possess unusual properties which completely absorb the freckles with no harmful effect. The complexion improves wonderfully, becoming as soft as a rose petal, and as delicately tinted. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's, spread a thin layer of it over the entire face one night and wash off, washing this off in the morning. For rough, pimply skin, oiliness, blackheads, pimples and all cutaneous blemishes this treatment is superior to any other.

Sprightline also brings wrinkles to many sensitive skins that are much exposed to winds and changing temperatures. To a half pint witch hazel add an ounce of powdered sassolin, which quickly dissolves. Bathe the face in this; the effect on a wrinkled skin is remarkable.

The Beaver House Chapter I.O.D.E. will serve tea and teas from four until six o'clock at the Alexandra Hospital on Tuesday, April 20th, at half-past three o'clock. A reception from four until six will follow.

An interesting feature in connection with the sale is the "Tea Party" whereby each one taking tea will receive a number, one of which will win a picture.

The first lecture in the course on Home Hygiene and Sanitation will take place on Monday, April 19, at eight o'clock, at the Y.W.C.A. clubroom, Third street. These lectures are under the auspices of the St. John's Ambulance Association and are included in the third of the series. Dr. W. D. Ferris will be the lecturer.

Rev. Father Donnelly, O.M.I., who it will be remembered explained the vexed question of the "No Temets" so effectively in a series of sermons preached at a mission some three years ago, in St. Joachim's Church, Leath street, will appear on an Edmonton platform again on Tuesday, at 8.00 p.m., in the Separate School Hall, under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League. This time Father Donnelly will tell of the troubles in Mexico, having received impressions at first hand, as he was there. He will tell, amongst other things, of how the ship on which he was a passenger was chased to Buenos Ayres by a British man of war, in the belief that German privy was aboard. According to notices in foreign exchanges the lecture will be well worth while. Proceeds will go to the St. Vincent de Paul fund of the St. Joachim's parish.

SERVIANS HONOR LADY PAGET FOR WORK.

Nish, Servia, April 10, via London. —In recognition of the devotion of Lady Paget, the municipality of Nish has decided to rename the finest street in that city after her.

Lady Paget, wife of Sir Ralph Spencer Paget, a member of the British diplomatic service, has been in Servia working with the Red Cross for some time past. She became ill, but is now recovering. Her death was at one time erroneously reported.

The order in which deaths occurred from typhus fever is very heavy. During the last two months, 167 doctors out of 452 have lost their lives.

QUEEN OF SWEDEN ARRIVES IN BERLIN.

London, April 10, 3.56 a.m.—The Queen of Sweden has arrived in Berlin, according to Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent.

A dispatch from London last Wednesday said Queen Victoria would proceed to Germany to live with her mother, the Grand Duchess of Baden, at Karlsruhe. The Queen has spent a large part of her married life in her native country. It is said that she is a sufferer from incipient tuberculosis and that the Scandinavian climate does not agree with her.

A reception from four until six will follow.

BIG FIRE DAMAGES MERSEY WAREHOUSE

Damage Was Several Hundred Thousand Dollars—May Augment Freight Congestion.

Liverpool, April 10. 4.48 a.m.—Damage estimated at several hundred thousand dollars was caused last night by a fire in the Stanley warehouse on the Mersey docks, one of the largest storage houses in the world for tobacco, in bond. The flames finally were brought under control, after several vessels had been taken from their berths as a precautionary measure. Six firemen were overcome by smoke. It is feared the fire may further aggravate the serious congestion of freight on the docks.

Trolley Lines Show Surplus!! One Day Only

Startling Returns for Last Saturday Prove Street Railway Can't Always Lose.

SURPLUS WAS $148.02; IN SPITE OF JITNEYS

Commissioner Harrison cut a nick on the door of his office last week, and so probably will all the ratepayers of the city when they learn the startling news.

A surplus of $148.02 was shown on the street railway earnings for Saturday, April 3rd.

The following statement, showing the number of passengers, receipts car miles, maximum number of cars in service and average receipts per car over the six routes will no doubt be of interest to the ratepayers of the city.

For Saturday, April 3rd, the miscellaneous receipts amounted to $200.00, the gross receipts to $2,082.22. Gross expenses, including depreciation, amounted to $1,934.20, leaving a surplus of $148.02. The number of passengers carried was 42,761. The number of cars in service was 47. The number of car miles travelled, 6,314.1. Average receipts per car: Route 1, Namayo avenue, $55.39; route 2, Low Level, $50.74; route 3, Spruce-Nelson, $50.00; route 4, 105th street, 855; route 5, Athabasca, $12.24; route 6, McKernan's Lake, $9.98.

This shows that in spite of the keen competition given to the street railway by the jitney bus service.

"It is evident that the street railway can, with careful management, be made a paying utility and the future outlook for the road is better at the present moment than it has been for some time," says Commissioner Harrison.

DOCKERS QUIT STRIKE.

London, April 10.—The formation of a dockers' battalion, coupled with the threat of the executives of the unions to suspend the strikers, had the unfavorable effect of bringing men today and the week-end strike of the dockers collapsed.

SENTENCED FOR ACCIDENT.

Hamilton, April 10—Not more than one year nor less than three months was the sentence passed yesterday on Lawrence Callen, found guilty of manslaughter in the death of Florence Sheppard, who was fatally injured last January when an iceboat which Callen was steering on the bay ran into her.

INTEREST IN TRIAL

Paris, April 10.—Keen public interest is being displayed in the court martial which will begin today of Capt. Hariall, an officer in the French cavalry charged with killing his wife at Compiegne because she insisted upon remaining at the front that she might be near him.

GERMANS TREATED BRITISH PRISONERS SO BRUTALLY THIRTY ASKED TO BE SHOT

Captors Kicked Their Unarmed Prisoners and Broke Their Guns Over Their Heads Says French Priest—Examples of Ill-Treatment Given in British Protest to Germany.

London, April 10.—A white paper, published last night, says the Daily News, gives correspondence which passed between the British and German foreign offices through the United States ambassador, with respect to the treatment of British prisoners of war in Germany. It contains many "painful statements," according to the News, and the following is one made by a French priest, referring to the treatment of prisoners at Minden.

Asked to Be Shot.

"The German soldiers kicked the British prisoners in the stomach and broke their guns over their backs. They forced them to sleep out in marshy places, so that many are now consumptives. The British are almost starved and such has been their torture that thirty of them asked to be shot."

The testimony is quoted by Sir Edward Grey in a letter of December 28. Grey stated the information on the bad treatment of the British prisoners had reached him from various sources.

A Russian doctor, who had returned to Petrograd, after being detained three weeks near Ralsund, said British officers at Keyler, Scharnhorst and Madgeburg was such "that there is danger of both physical and mental deterioration." These was some investigation at Ruhleben, and since March 1 "a very important change has taken place in the food supply. The caterer has been dispensed with."

Notwithstanding this, Sir Edward again complained March 19 that information from a prominent official of the British Red Cross Society stated that prisoners in Germany "were being kept very short of food, if not actually starved."

On March 20 he wrote that a communication from the German government revealed the fact that "there were hundreds of prisoners in the German detention camps."

How Germany Replied.

The German replies to the complaints, says the News, were denials and excuses such as this:

"It will certainly be admitted by every discriminating British inmate of the camp at Ruhleben that in the face of the attempt of his own government to starve the German people the bill of fare offered is above all criticism."

A statement forwarded by the American ambassador March 17, relating to a fund of $100,000 made available by the British government for British combatants and non-combatants prisoners, says:

"The German foreign office states there are no objections to this distribution, but it cannot be used in any event for the purchase of tobacco, chocolate bread or cake from the German and Austrian supplies.

"However, no objection is interposed to sending simple foods, sweets and so forth to prisoners from home; but parcels will not be allowed bread in excess of the allotment, which is the same as that of the German troops quartered among civilians. The allotted rations being adequate for Germans, they are adequate for prisoners, too, who cannot be permitted to live better than the population of the captor."

DARDANELLES CAN BE WON BY FLEET

Italian Admiral Expresses Opinion That the Allies Will be Successful.

London, April 10—2.20 a.m.—Four battleships and four cruisers convoying several transports were seen yesterday in the Dardanelles steaming toward Enos, on the Gulf of Saros, according to a dispatch to the Times from Sofia. The warships opened fire on the Turkish coast forts at a distance of what appeared to be three miles. After the bombardment had continued for about two hours the squadron withdrew in the direction of the Dardanelles.

Rome, April 10—Admiral Bettolo, who several times has been Italian minister of marine, is quoted in an interview as declaring he always has believed and still believes the Dardanelles can be forced, although the difficulties today naturally are greater than they were a few years ago because of the improvements made in the defences and the direction of German officers.

After describing the land and sea resources of the Turco-German forces, the admiral added that in spite of the formidable array ships could triumph in the end over land forces because the long range of their artillery would enable them to destroy coast batteries while they were in such a position that shells from the enemy's guns could not reach them. One of the essentials to success in such an operation, he said, was the complete destruction of each fortification attacked and the annihilation of its garrison by the landing of troops.

Just Suits My Needs Building Up the System

This is the Way Thousands of Women Are Speaking of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

"I want to state that I have never taken anything to do me so much good as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food," writes Mrs. Edson Brock, Trenholmville, Que., "and I am never without it in the house. I was so nervous I could not sleep, but now I sleep soundly at nights and wake up feeling refreshed and ready for the day's work. I used the Nerve Food for months and found that it just suits my needs and has built up the system wonderfully. I know it is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that has brought about the great change in my condition and am thankful for it."

"My husband was a great sufferer from itching piles and has been entirely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment."

We are constantly receiving letters like that in regard to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Everywhere it is being used because of its great restorative and reconstructive influence on the nervous system. Men and women who are run down in health, tired, nervous and discouraged, find in this great Food Cure the means of nourishing the exhausted system back to health and vigor.

Headaches, indigestion, sleeplessness, nervous irritability, lack of energy, and weakness all tell of nervous exhaustion, and indicate the need of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Instead of affording mere temporary relief by stimulating the nerves, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food builds up the system by supplying the ingredients from which Nature forms new rich blood and revitalizes the wasted nervous system. Put Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to the test when your nerves feel worn out and discouraged, fill the body with new rich blood and new nerve force and you will realize again the joy of good health. 50 cents a box, 5 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1915.

Now is the time to convert all this accumulated enthusiasm about agriculture into action.

At least the government might make the glue factory give back the hides of those 375 horses.

The explosion of that "tender" leaves the opposition railway policy looking like an unpaid butcher's bill.

Mr. Tweedie's version of the opposition railway policy is that we have too many railways in this province now.

What the opposition mostly need seems to be a censor to cut the come-backs out of Mr. Michener's speeches.

A common member of parliament called General Sam Hughes a "lump of ignorance." And the upstart still lives!

The next time Mr. Michener pulls a "tender" on the legislature he should look to see which way the thing shoots.

A good many chaps are observing that a manure fork makes blisters just where the snow shoved used to make them.

After thinking it over for three weeks the Prinz Eitel commander decided he would rather be a live prisoner than a dead hero.

That man Harvey's story of the spavined crow-baits he sold the Militia department is enough to bring David Harum prancing out of the pages of fiction to get in the game.

Mr. Mckenzie, M.P., is wrong. General Sam Hughes is not a "lump" of one bad quality. He is a composition of ignorance, vanity and bad manners, in equal parts.

It is surely a poor way to pay "Canada's debt to England" to borrow money from the British government at a time like this and let it be carried off by middlemen who gave nothing in return.

The Journal thoughtfully left Hon. J. R. Boyle's speech out of it's report of Thursday's railway debate in the legislature. Ordinarily this would be censurable. On this occasion it was charitable. —to Mr. Michener.

The Vancouver council has decided to stop boarding the crowd of husky non-residents who flocked in when things got quiet to live off the taxpayers. One way and another the bums are having a pretty poor time these days.

Mr. T. M. Tweedie, M.P.P., is a candidate for sympathy. It is bad enough to be shot up by the enemy, but to be bowled over by the back-fire from his own leader's blunderbuss is too much to expect any man to smile over.

If, after what has been done with the first fifty millions lent us, the British government should refuse to lend Canada any more money to hand out to piratical middlemen and soulless boot makers the fault will lie with ourselves.

The men in the trenches are to have the privilege of voting. As nominees of Hon. Robert Rogers will have the privilege of doing the counting, the returns published in Canada will bear no necessary resemblance to the votes polled in France.

Mr. Geo. Hoadley, M.P.P., will understand two things. One is that Mr. T. M. Tweedie, M.P.P., is feeling decidedly "tender" on the recall as a question. The other is that Mr. Tweedie doesn't intend hereafter to let anyone else explain what he thinks on that subject. He is for no more railways, and says so plainly.

Detective Haddock has quit. It was time.

One contemporary spells it Gen Sham Shoes.

Chief Dunning, of Saskatoon, has resigned. Naturally.

H. B. Ames, M.P., should get out his magic lantern and show us what those cemented boots look like.

Whether the city grows or not the school population does. The increase this year is 549—enough to fill a thirteen-room school.

McMillan says he committed perjury to save Springer at the Saskatoon inquiry. Perhaps he did likewise elsewhere.

McMillan and Pierson have squealed. The truth will out—when the public and public officials make up their minds to help it out.

A contemporary wants to know if the slaughter of men in the war will lead to the adoption of polygamy. Not while present millinery prices prevail.

What a fine time the people of Edmonton would have had if the gang had succeeded in "canning" Hill and put Springer in as chief of the police force.

Mr. Michener's "tender" is about as decrepit a proposition as some of the spavined relics of antiquity the militia department bought for cavalry chargers.

McMillan & Pierson should get a chance to say now whether they committed perjury at a recent trial in Edmonton, as they say they did at the Saskatoon inquiry.

Moving pictures of that procession of high-priced chargers hoodling off to the glue factory would make a fortune for some enterprising chap even in these hard times.

The chairman of the investigating committee refused to let a pair of the boots accepted by the Militia department be put in as evidence. Next thing he will be applying the closure to witnesses.

Those who have held that Heaton has been lying and that McMillan and Pierson have been telling the truth will have a time explaining matters now that McMillan says Heaton told the truth.

If there is any more contemptible sort of traitor than the police officer who conspires with criminals it is the government official who conspires with a flag-waving thief to outfit soldiers in rotten boots.

McMillan swears the gang came to Edmonton to "tear up the town" under arrangement with Springer. That was part of Heaton's story. McMillan should have a chance to confirm or deny the rest of it.

The League of Social and Economic Justice will surely inscribe the names of McMillan and Pierson alongside those of Magistrate Primrose and Chief Hill in the honor roll of parties they would like to scalp.

According to McMillan it is customary in some cities across the line for the detectives and yeggmen to work together for the plunder of the public. No wonder people in United States cities carry revolvers. The wonder is they so seldom use them on the detectives.

According to Haddock's evidence the McMillan gang had planned a campaign for Edmonton the like of which this country has not seen, and they had enough explosives when caught to make the plans effective. The capture of that trio was a great day's work.

THIS CANADIAN ENJOYS LIFE IN TRENCHES AND SAYS SO

Private Maus, a Nephew of Mr. Alex. Stuart, K.C., Describes Some of the Pleasures and Discomforts—Brother of Prof. de Savoye Gives Idea of Care Taken of Troops' Health.

James Maus, a nephew of Mr. Alex. Stuart, K.C., of this city, is having the time of life as a member of the Canadian expeditionary forces now in Northern France. In a recent letter he writes:

"Don't know whether the censor is tearing up my letters or not, but will keep on scribbling. We are in the trenches, a short stretch away from the place from which I wrote you a week or ten days ago; having a good time of my sweet young life, with enough gun powder going off to keep things lively. They are a 'warrior' bold and true." None of this desperate assault business, nor do the boys look for much just now. The ground is soft, the weather uncertain, for counts, we know nothing. The "Deutchers" are about 200 yards from the firing line here. Their sniping isn't bad unless you are careless or too curious to look over the trench. We've been in here thirty-six hours, and they have sniped one lad in the arm and another slightly, I believe. We are two days in front line, two days in reserve line and four days in billets, which is the programme mapped out for us. I'd sign on for life if I thought it would be nothing more than this. The reserve line boys carry rations to the firing line lads, and also help build up the trenches or trench works with sandbags at night. Our friends across the boundary throw up star shells, a sort of illuminating fireworks with the altogether unkind intention of getting their sharp-shooters and small machine guns a chance to catch those good Samaritans, with the insignificant result mentioned above. We can sleep now, each having a blanket and two coats; but in the firing line we have to sleep sitting up in a cubby hole, absolutely small. In the reserve line we can sleep comfortably. A breast-work of sand bags and bush on a platform covered with straw, about two feet off the ground, is top cover in the back face open. Two hot meals a day, with one cold with hot tea is our fare mostly. The weather is mild, so it is just a rather muddy picnic, with fireworks free. Rum and tobacco are issued. When this cruel war is over we will probably have to go to work. At night we call across to each other, and indulge in wit and repartee of the most scintillating character. You can be as saucy as the dickens behind a good heavy breast-work with a few tons of barbed wire strung and tangled up in front of you. The night before last one of our star shells had gone up, one of our machine guns had barked at them for half a minute. That will do Britannica," says they. Last night they asked if the Canadians were here. If any of them have been in America they will have recognized the twang of some of our fellows—their phrases any way. The lad in the next little station to mine is never tired of singing out to them: 'And I'm one of the old-named Fritz. I content myself with saying bad words when they spurt mud into my dinner. They nearly made us shift our little dixie of tea spurting mud yesterday.

"I must paint you a more cheerful picture on the other sight. The regimental headquarters were at a real, old-fashioned French farm, built around in a square—1465—with a stout ground, no portcullis now, gate way running out, thick brick walls and loop-holes. The officers live in the part of regimental headquarters, partly police but mostly ceremonial in its functions. At every gate is a sentry at the gate, which at one time was no doubt necessary even than now. I did a guard from 2 a.m. to 4 a.m. The whole guard of eight have to be turned, dressed and ready, but not necessarily awake. We have been served out with goulash once, cooked in a brazier, as we do in the trenches. It's like a big bucket with spuds at the bottom and meat on the draft. With this just aglow, the men lying around in groups, a sentry at the gate, the rifles and bayonets at hand, a strong breeze whistling through the tree in the yard, and through these old loop-holes, and all the edge silent, I imagined myself part of an old-fashioned picture. The tin cans of grub were rather too up-to-date to be in harmony though."

WITH THE FRENCH TROOPS.

Pasteur Institute Graduate Tells of His Experiences.

Professor de Savoye, 10227 122nd street, has received an interesting letter from his brother, a graduate of the Pasteur Institute and who is now serving with artillery. He tells of sanitary work he superintended and of the movements of troops to the Dardanelles and other eastern points. Portions of the letter are as follows:

"I had been given charge of deodorizing the stagnant pools of water in which the dead leaves and remains of all kinds; and also the ponds, where those famous empty cartridges are found. Guillain, commanding the camp of Auvours, one of my lieutenants had proposed me for that survey and the general called me today to have my report read out to the assembled officers whom father ran against Caillaux for the last elections.

"They were speaking yesterday of forming a 120-m.m. battery to go to Turkey. I may go with it. Another battery is going too. My lieutenant says that if I wish to go he will appoint me a brigadier, as the first vacancy.

"There are many departures for Servia, Turkey and Egypt, and it is probable that everything that will go to the future will go to the front. Many have already left and many more will leave later, if the war lasts till September. One day they are designated, equipped with new uniforms, and the next day they are gone for an unknown destination.

"The Pope is now sending in for the exchange of prisoners, civilian as well as military. One of the greatest causes of suffering amongst the prisoners in Germany is that they cannot change their clothes, and become the vermin which attacks them, although there are some camps where they get better treated than others.

Mother Tells of Plight.

A letter from Professor de Savoye's mother reads:

"When we heard that les Boches were only 60 kilometres from Paris we thought we should not hesitate any longer to leave. In the morning my husband went for tickets, but he stood for six hours before being able to reach the wicket, and, on account of his age, being unable to stand any longer, he returned home. Then my son was able to get a ticket from a friend, then another, and we were ready to leave.

"As the railroads were not taking any baggage, we packed a few clothes in hand-bags and left for the station four hours in advance, and it was not any too soon. The cars were already packed and crowds of people were coming all the time. As one had to carry everything in his hands, the cars were filled up with all kinds of stuff. Some wanted to take their dogs with them. A lady had under her arm a huge parcel of carpets, likely valuable ones. Husbands were looking for their wives, calling them all over the depot. In our car a 40 year-old maid was crying, as it was because she had lost her sister on the same age. The small children were already getting sick. We were exhausted before we left.

"But at last we left. It took us seven hours to reach Versailles, when it usually takes 20 minutes. We were stopping at every kilometer, sometimes two, sometimes three hours. When the train was moving it was at a pace rate. During the day men were walking behind the cars to see whether there was a stop the ladies were also getting down to pick flowers.

"We soon all got acquainted with each other. There were two English soldiers who came visit us in our car. They had boyish faces and were correctly dressed in khaki. A lady who could speak French was the interpreter. One of the soldiers had a love letter from his sweetheart. They also showed us their finely knit underwear of the same color as their uniform.

"At Chartres we had to change trains. But where the other train was, nobody knew. All the regular railroad staff had been mobilized and the new men were evidently lost. A marine officer, who happened to be on the platform, was minister for the station agent and surrounded by the crowd, who wanted to know where the train was. For four hours, in the dark, we remained on the platform without being able to get any information from any one. We were going from one track to another, but the cars which were pointed out were never ours. We finally got our train and went southwards again.

"In some places, on he bank of the track, were soldiers with hot coffee for the wounded, and they were giving us some. Others were offering us apples and pears. After many hours, we reached Besse-en-Haye, about 200 kilometres from Paris, our ordinary three hours' trip. It was again in the middle of the night. We hired a rig to be taken to the small village where our friends live, and we had to pay a very large price for it. The old horse in the old rig was the only one left in the country and it was apparently worth to his owner its weight in gold. We remained three weeks in the village of Bessenets, as it already wrote you. Then we returned to Paris. It was then fully protected; trenches had been dug and all kinds of preparations done. But when les Boches were at 60 kilometres—we may say it now—nothing was in shape and it had been quite decided not to defend Paris.

"I saw Alme. B. the other day. She had just received a letter from her husband, who is in the trenches. They pass three days in the trenches and three days in the cantonment in a small village behind the firing line. In the trenches, a soldier who has up his head is a dead man. They cannot make fires unless they are sure to prevent the smoke from mounting in the air.

"But they have lots of fun just the same. They name parts of the trenches after Paris streets.

"Sometimes the trenches are so close to those of the Germans that they are able to talk. The French throw beets in the opposite trench. When the Germans throw them back they find bits of letters disclosing all our military secrets.

"Some time ago the French soldiers found an old silk hat in the village. They brought it to the trench and sent a beet to the Germans. In the beet the Germans found a letter saying that the next day President Poincare would visit the trenches. The next day, indeed, the old silk hat appeared at the end of a stick, walking along the trench, and the Germans began to shoot, and to shoot until nothing was left of the unfortunate hat. It is said the French and Germans have tacitly agreed not to open fire on the rigs which bring the delicious dinners at night, when they go themselves for provisions, they meet together and become acquainted, till they are back in the trench.

"You have probably read all about the atrocities the Germans have committed in the unguarded families. Pillage and shame, ravishing women and girls in the convents. And what is to be said to the victims of those foiure mothers. The children, who will not be taken care of by their mothers, will be raised by the government, in order to spare them the misfortune of inspiring horror for a crime of which they are not guilty themselves. You have read many of these things, without doubt. I will not enumerate them. It is enough that you know they are diabolic inventions, crimes violating all the conventions of modern warfare."

IN NEUVE CHAPELLE RUSH.

Corporal in the Yorkshires Tells of Bayonet Charge.

Moose Jaw, April 9.—Hugh Peat, business manager of the Morning News, has received a letter from Clarence from a brother, Corporal Peat of the Yorkshires, written immediately after the battle of Neuve Chapelle. This certainly negatives any suggestion which has been growing that the engagement, while a brilliant success, was disastrous in casualties. Part of the letter reads:

"We set off at about three o'clock in the morning and marched to some reserve trenches which we had dug a few days previously. Our guns opened fire on the Germans at about seven o'clock and continued for about two hours. The shells came screaming over our heads, so that we had been fired from a maxim. You can guess what it was like when there were 150 guns being fired as fast as they could load. After they finished we got extended out in the open with a maxim playing on us as hard as it could go. We got to the first line of trenches and found our own men occupying them. some of the Germans were giving themselves up. Then we got the word to advance with fixed bayonets, going to a little wood on the right, and formed up there. Our regiment went along to take the next line, but ——— retire on account of not having enough and being enfiladed. Then we got the word to go forward. We went forward and we took the trenches and we went forward until it was too dark to go any further."

After relating a counter-attack by the German trenches, successfully repulsed, Corporal Peat continues: "There were 25 in our platoon when we started, and 17 answered the roll call. Of course, the remainder were not all killed, the majority being only wounded. Our officer and 17 of us took 52 prisoners."

Corporal Peat encloses an order issued by Lieut. General Sir Henry Rawlinson, G.O.C., dated March 14, containing a magnificent tribute congratulating them "on the severe defeat they have inflicted on the enemy, whose losses amount to not less than 4,000 in killed and prisoners alone," and "hoping that the officers and men fully realize that what they have accomplished in breaking through the German line is an achievement of which they should all feel justly proud.

PRINCE FIT AND CHEERY.

Lieutenant Bristol Saw Him Smoking a Big Pipe.

An extract from a letter written by Lieut. Everest Bristol, of the 13th Hussars, nephew of Mr. Edmund Bristol, M.P., to relatives here, gives graphic descriptions of the Prince of Wales and Field Marshal Sir John French.

"I don't remember whether I told you that our young friend, Edward, Prince of Wales, was around here the other day inspecting some of the faithful aeroplane. He trotted along with our G.O.C. division, looking very fit and cheery, and his appearance was decidedly a pleasant surprise for me. I was confined (that in various unfortunate photographs I had seen, I had gathered the impression he was rather a pitiful little figure—but I am glad to say I was mistaken. He is a nice-looking, fresh-faced boy, a bit shy in appearance and with a nose a trifle too small and Hanoverian, a rather serious cast of countenance and a slight, boyish, not-of-fragile-looking figure. We happened to be doing some trek that day and he wandered about quite at ease, smoking a large pipe (which act, I might say, engendered the most interesting, but I am pleased to say, ungrounded fears in the hearts of some of the spectators of this royal indiscretion) and had a look at the positions we had taken up. He was particularly keen on the R.H.A. battery attached to our brigade, and watched them in their various action for some time, interrupting the battle from time to time to ask questions about the weapons.

"Eventually he and his watch-dog (for that is what he was) left us, and we were received by Field Marshal Sir John French. He, on the other hand, was somewhat of a disappointment in appearance, although I could see that he was not visa-vis with him. I had imagined a spare and grizzled, eagle-eyed, cocknosed man and instead saw a comfortable, stout old party with a very red face, who looked not at all hawk-eyed, albeit he had a very reassuring nose and jaw."

Says Mail For Germany Is Seized By Allied Cruisers

Basle, Switzerland, April 10 (via Paris).—British and French cruisers, according to a dispatch received here, have taken from Italian mail steamers 2,300 bags of German mail addressed abroad and containing letters, postcards, money, checks and small packages.

Bags coming from abroad intended for Germany will be treated in the same way and confiscated. This course on the part of the Allied countries, it is understood, is being made in response to Germany's submarine warfare against non-combatant merchant and passenger ships. British warships recently captured on a Norwegian vessel confidential letters forwarded by Dr. Von Bethmann Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor, to Count Von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States.

TALK OF FRICTION ON DUTCH BORDER

And it is Just Talk Says Hague Dispatch Relating to London's Rumors.

The Hague, via London, April 10.—The closest inquiries made today in diplomatic, ministerial and military circles failed to discover the reason for the alarming rumors printed yesterday in London newspapers relative to the possibility of hostilities between Holland and Germany or for the charging of high insurance premiums. Nothing appears to have arisen recently at any point along the frontier, which would cause Holland to cease to maintain her position of strict neutrality.

PREMIER ACCEPTED SENATE AMENDMENT

Increased Representation for West in Senate nad Commons is Provided For.

Ottawa, April 10—Sir Robert Borden in the commons this morning on behalf of the government accepted the amendments made by the senate to the resolution praying that an address be sent to the King providing for an increase in the representation of the upper house in Western Canada and that the representation of a province in the commons shall never be less than the number of senators to which it is entitled. The amendment provides that this does not come into effect until after the dissolution of parliament.

DEAR SIR,---

HORSESHOW Suits That Outpace Others in Value--at $17.50!

THESE ARE THEY!—A whole string of "sleek" beauties for the men who wouldn't call their grooming for show week complete without new Spring Trappings in the way of a Suit—not to mention a baker's dozen of dress et cetreas!—There's "bringup" and "stand up" in every one of them! They step out from the "file" of ordinary clothes! You should "go over" the row of 'em before Monday's sun sets!—You are to be the judge and jury!

A COLLECTION OF ENGLISH WORSTED AND TWEED Suits, specially reduced in price for this one Horse Show Week! Every ounce of cloth in them pure wool! Included is our sample Grey English Worsted Line! Among the Tweeds are some excellent browns! Styles are clever Norfolks and two or three button sacks. All are painstakingly tailored, fine of fit and furnished well—belt loops, pants watch pocket and all. Sizes 36 to 46. Regular to $25.00. Horse Show Week, Each..... $17.50

Your Furs Are Worth Caring For

THE "SAFETY FIRST" idea is uppermost in our mind when we urge upon you the necessity of having your furs stored during the warm summer months.

IN OUR FRIGID STORAGE vaults your furs will be well cared for, and the cost for the service will be small indeed. Men's coon coats or fur-lined coats, women's fine mink sets or apparel—all these will be kept safe, cold, clean, and will appear like new when called upon next fall. Our charge for this service is a per cent of the value of the furs for 8 months' storage, or 5 per cent for a whole year.

ANOTHER LETTER HINTS AT GRAFT

F. B. Carvell Tells Public Accounts Committee Further Investigation is Needed.

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

Ottawa, April 5.—At the evening sitting of the public accounts committee F. B. Carvell said he had received an anonymous letter asking that the saddle contract given to Carson Brothers, of Ottawa, be gone into, also the contracts for surgical supplies and other equipment. He said that if all these things are gone into the committee will be sitting for another month. If the House were to prorogue on Monday, then the committee should come to an agreement as to winding up its business. If prorogation was to be deferred, then these further matters should be gone into.

Hon. Dr. Reid said the government was only too anxious to have the fullest inquiry into all matters where wrong-doing was shown, and proposed to prosecute the offenders and enforce restitution. The House would, in all probability, wind up its business on Saturday night and it was the general feeling on both sides that prorogation should not be delayed. He assured the committee that it was the intention of the government to continue the work of investigation where wrong-doing was suspected. He was sure Mr. Carvell and Mr. Kyte who had been the most active members of the Opposition in the committee, would frankly admit that the government had assisted in every way to bring out the facts before the committee.

Mr. Carvell: "That is a pretty large order, but we are not complaining."

Mr. Kyte: "No, we are not complaining."

The "Influence" Receipt.

Mr. Denison, of Denison & Holcomb, accountants, of Ottawa, was given permission to make a personal statement on oath respecting the receipt for $1,750 given by Major McQuarrie to Wylie Brothers for "influence with the minister of militia" in securing an order for motor trucks in the year 1912. The gist of Mr. Denison's statement was that neither he nor his partner, Mr. Holcomb, had ever seen the receipt and had no knowledge of how it came into the hands of Mr. Carvell anonymously. The Wylie business was wound up early in 1914 and the papers had been transferred from Wylie's office to the office of the firm.

Dr. Reid: "Mr. Wylie's evidence pointed to this receipt being subsequently found in the safe after the papers came into your possession."

Mr. Carvell then made a personal statement regarding the receipt which came to him anonymously two or three days before the matter came up in committee. The address on the envelope was in handwriting, but he had thrown it away.

Dr. Reid: "It is a pity you did not keep it."

Mr. Carvell: "I may say I have received over a dozen anonymous letters since then."

Dr. Reid: "Did you keep the envelopes?"

Mr. Carvell: "No. I was careful to do so."

High Prices For Drugs.

Henry Watters, an Ottawa druggist, took the stand to tell the committee something about the prices which Hon. Pharmodon, who keeps a drug store in Ottawa, for drug supplies for the Valcartier camps charged for the $12,500 worth of supplies she sold to the department last autumn. Original invoices were not available, but the committee and Mr. Watters declared at the outset that the documents in the case for the committee showed no evidence of having been checked over. He noted that there had been a variation in the prices charged for certain standard articles which were supposed to have been bought at fixed prices. For instance, blue ointment had been bought for $1.20 per pound and $1.60 per pound, "Mistol five cents per pound," said Mr. Watters. "Would be a reasonable price but a dollar twenty per pound would be very high." Another invoice showed that Mme. Pharmodon had charged $15 per thousand for aspirin tablets, a small price which some thought this was too high, even after allowing for increased war prices. In another instance aseorin tablets had been charged at $16.75. Mr. Watters thought that the department ought to have got them for $9 per thousand.

Mr. Watters told the committee that he had only taken some forty out of all the items on the list, which numbered hundreds. It would be impossible to go over the whole list in a short time. Generally speaking, however, he declared that the prices on all the items with a very few exceptions, were extortionate. In concluding his evidence, Mr. Watters declared that there should be in every department a qualified man to examine prices paid for supplies. "So well conducted business," he declared, "would tolerate the methods shown here."

GETS EARLY PARDON.

London, Ont., April 10—It was learned here yesterday that Tom Riley, of Everton, Missouri, has been pardoned and released from Kingston penitentiary after serving less than a year of a fifteen-year sentence for the murder of Geo. Blackburn, a farmer at the Hotel Cecil, this city.

AUSTRIA TO DROP SERVIAN ATTACK: NOW FEARS ITALY

Additional Army Corps Are to be Sent to the Italian Frontier.

ITALIAN GOVERNMENT FEARS POPULACE RIOTS

Hungarian Officer Gives Graphic Account of Onslaught of the Russians.

Geneva, via Paris, April 10—Austria has abandoned the idea of launching a fresh offensive movement against Serbia, the Tribuna says it has learned from absolutely reliable sources, and will remain strictly on the defensive in order to send additional army corps to the Italian frontier.

The same authority is quoted as asserting that it was decided at Vienna to sound Russia on the subject of peace terms, but that it is impossible to know what the result has been.

The Russians made important captures of artillery and war munitions in the recent fighting in the Carpathians, according to despatches to Swiss newspapers. In the country of Saros alone they took two batteries of 12-in. mortars, four other batteries of different calibre, 20 quick-firers and 700 shells for the 12-inch guns.

Figures received here purporting to come from the Austrian general staff place at 26,000 the losses in the battle on the Dukla-Eperies front.

Insistent Reports of Peace Overtures

Milan, April 10—A special dispatch from Petrograd to Secolo says that the insistent reports heard in the Russian capital of negotiations for a separate peace with Austria are based upon the supposition that Galicia and probably some other territory would be exchanged with Russia for guarantees of the preservation of Austrian integrity in the Transylvanian provinces. Sentiment in favor of a separate peace with Austria is said to be increasing in Russia.

Russia is said to have made important captures of guns and war munitions in the Carpathians. What is reported as information from the Austrian general staff is that in the battle along the Dukla-Eperies front the Austrians lost twenty-six thousand men.

Popular agitation in Italy concerning the attitude of that country has increased to a point which has necessitated energetic action by the authorities to prevent disorders. The factions for and against war have arranged mass meetings for tomorrow which their leaders say will be held in spite of police prohibition.

Resistless Tide Swept Hungarians Before It

London, April 10.—The Morning Post has the following dispatch from Budapest, dated April 2.

"An officer who has just returned from the Carpathians and has taken part in the operations there during the last three months, gave me the following detailed account of the desperate fighting going on in the mountains:

"As I have been off color for the last fortnight, I was ordered to act as escort commander of a train of wounded and sick, many of whom had frozen feet. We left the front with about 200 men, all sick or wounded, three days ago, and marched through the mountains to a railway terminus. We covered four to five miles at a time, sometimes carrying each other and halting at every village to rest. We marched thus 36 hours and continued about four kilometers.

"When we reached the railway line my men were more dead than alive. Three of them had to be left behind in villages we passed through, too weak to continue.

"The last fortnight in the Carpathians there was a continuous fierce battle all along the line and the thunder of the guns never ceased during the day. We soon got used to the sound and when I reached the zone behind the fighting line it seemed wonderful to find everything peaceful and quiet.

"The Russians are determined, it seems, to get through this time and the waste of ammunition and men on their part in incessant attacks points to the fact we had no time to fortify since the beginning of January. It took us two weeks to get our guns into position, for they had to be drawn up the slope a thousand metres high, and yet we have them no more.

"When the news of the fall of Przemysl came, a brigade order was issued to fortify the positions still more. We did all a human force could do. Trunks of trees were brought up or rolled down from higher points and laid before our trenches, a second and third row of wire entanglements were fixed sixty yards apart, and we thought no earthly power could penetrate these obstacles. Up to the 25th everything went well, only the guns were going all day and an occasional sight of the enemy stirred us up a little here and there. They tried night attacks, but were easily repulsed.

Tremendous Night Attack.

"On another part of the line the fighting had been more violent for the past week, but we felt only the rush after the 25th. On that day it appeared the Russians, who occupied the opposite slope, about half a mile distant, were strongly reinforced and we could see they had been supplied with new guns, for the bombardment became more frequent and deadly and as our wire entanglements seemed to be disappearing, now at one point, now at another, we knew this meant a night attack, and we were not disappointed. The only thing we did not anticipate was that it would be made in such tremendous force.

"That night they came along in five rows and although we could only spot them very late, not one of their men reached us. We were fighting all that night and not a minute's rest could be had. When one of their lines was beaten back or laid low, another appeared. This time it would be nearer. Then another line. And when morning came, instead of the wounded and dead we are accustomed to see on the slope and in the valley, the fifth line appeared, this time larger and stronger.

Could Not Stop Them.

"They crept forward in the mud and snow. We mowed them down. Yet they came on in every direction and were trying to rush us. This went on during the whole day of the 26th. Towards evening we saw them coming with still greater masses. Our men had had nothing to eat all day. Our wire entanglements were in pieces. Their guns were working havoc among us, and we felt we could not pass another night like the one before it if they came on again the same way.

"At midnight they advanced some hundred yards and some of our men rushed out. The others when they saw we were lost crept back and by some miracle, 500 of my regiment were saved. The others were either taken prisoners or fell.

"The position we retreated to was fortified in expectation of the retreat, but we had hardly made ourselves comfortable when, on the afternoon of the 27th, the Russians attacked in almost the same way. They came on and on, hundreds and hundreds being mowed down with machine guns and this time, to avoid losses in prisoners, we were ordered to retreat again to a still better position, where reinforcements came up. When I left this position the other day the Russians had been attacking it for two days without ceasing a moment, but yet without any apparent chance of success."

OFFICIAL REPORTS INDICATE BIG STRUGGLE

The official war reports of today indicate that the fighting in France which started on Monday with a French attack between the Meuse and Moselle rivers has developed in to a desperate struggle along a considerable portion of the western front. The statement from the German army headquarters mentions, one after another, a series of onslaughts by the allies. It would appear from the Berlin statement that the English and French have obtained no advantages of importance.

The Paris statement adds nothing to previous statements of French victories.

In the east no changes are recorded. The Berlin war office says that the Russians accomplished nothing by attacks in the north.

ANDERSON PARTY SAFE IN ARCTIC

Letters Received by Mrs. Anderson Tell of Stefansson Relief Expedition.

Sioux City, Ia., April 10—The Southern party of the Canadian Arctic expedition is safe, according to letters received here yesterday by Mrs. R. M. Anderson from her husband, Dr. Rudolph M. Anderson, who is in charge of the party. The letters were written from Herschell Island, Sept. 13, 1914.

Dr. Anderson, with his two ships Alaska and North Star, according to the letters had proceeded eastward as far as Dolphin and Union Straits and the scientific staff had been landed safely in a splendid harbor. Mention was made in the letters of the relief party sent out by Dr. Anderson to search for the Stefansson party of the Canadian Arctic expedition. This relief was in charge of Geo. H. Wilkins aboard the steamer Mary Sachs.

At the time the letters were written the Wilkins relief party had passed Bailey Island on its way to Banksland. With the ocean about Banksland free from ice, the party should be able to have advanced some distance to the north in search of Stefansson and his companions.

BRITAIN IS TO LEND CANADA $1,000,000 EVERY FORTNIGHT

Arrangement Made to Last Until End of War—Dominion is to Use Money for War Expenditures—British Government Loans Loans Money at Same Rate as It Pays for It

Canadian Associated Press.

London, April 10.—Sir George Perley, acting high commissioner for the Dominion of Canada, has this week negotiated with the British treasury a renewal of the arrangement made in the early period of the war for payment of Canada's war expenditure. The British treasury will continue to pay to the Dominion government account two millions monthly, one million in the middle of the month and another million the last day of the month, which will be for Dominion war expenditures alone. Eventually, at such time as the chancellor of the exchequer and the Dominion minister of finance consider opportune—probably at the close of the war—a Canadian loan will be floated for the liquidation of this indebtedness to the British treasury.

The Canadian loan recently issued was not for war expenditure at all, but for public works in the Dominion. The British government is lending this money to the Canadian government at the same figure as they receive it from the public, four per cent. Canada's own loan, recently raised, was on a 4 1-2 per cent. basis.

GERMAN STAFF OFFICERS KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

London, April 10.—A semi-official statement issued at Petrograd, says a Reuter's dispatch, announces that several German officers of high rank were killed and several others injured when a train carrying the staff of an army corps was derailed in the section of Poland occupied by the Germans.

Around the City

(From Evening Edition)

J. W. W. Stewart, managing director of the Monarch Life Assurance Co., Winnipeg, is a guest at the Selkirk and will be in the city for a few days interviewing applicants for agency positions in his company.

LEGION OF FRONTIERSMEN.

Order No. 2, 10th April, 1915—Regular drill Wednesday, 14th, and Friday, 16th inst. Promotion class every evening of the week except Saturday and Sunday. All parades, 8 p.m., at McKay avenue school. Grounds, corner 5th street.

Membership, training as one body, includes: (A.) Men willing to go on active service; (B.) Men willing to act in national defense; (C.) Men not able to join A or B, but willing to act as Edmonton city guard.

An engineer company and cyclist section are being organized. A. M. Calderon, commandant.

HOLIDAYS ARE OVER.

The public schools as well as the high school will open again on Monday after the Easter vacation. This morning the members of the board visited and inspected the new Westmount public school, which will be used for the first time after the Easter holidays. This school is one of the most modern in the city, having all the latest conveniences and appliances for the benefit and comfort of the pupils and teachers.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

In the police court this morning Pon Yin was remanded until the next court of competent jurisdiction on a charge of perjury and was allowed out on bail in the extent of $1,000, himself and two sureties of $500 each. Cassie St. John, arrested as a vagrant was dismissed, while Pearl St. John, a friend, arrested on a similar charge, was told by the magistrate to go home to her parents, and warned that if she came up again in the court she will receive a severe sentence. Joseph Murray charged with non-support, was fined $20 or six weeks.

CALF HAD THREE TONGUES.

Ordinarily one tongue is enough for any person or any animal, but H. Schmidt, of the Central Market, has now on exhibition at the Eastwood Dairy a calf with three tongues. This calf was received in a shipment of veal calves the other day from the country. Apparently the man who raised it saw nothing out of the ordinary, but when it arrived here the animal was found to have three distinct tongues—one in the centre of the mouth and one on each side—and the peculiar part of it is that each of these three tongues is as large, if not larger, than the tongue of an ordinary calf.

MILLET BOARD OF TRADE.

The annual banquet of the Millet board of trade was held last night, and was attended by Secretary Fisher, of the Edmonton board. The Millet board of trade is a most progressive organization. They do not confine their energies to matters pertaining to the town alone, but rather have as their object the filling up of the country tributary to the town, accepting the fact that when he country is properly settled the town will look after itself. As a result eighty per cent. of the members of the board are farmers from the neighborhood. In addition ladies are a dominating feature in the board's affairs, and at the annual banquet last night there were many of them present. The Millet board is one of the most progressive colonizing organizations in the province, and under the direction of President A. P. Mitchell and Secretary B. Wilkinson, are doing a good work. At last night's banquet one of the prominent speakers was Mayor Norris, of Leduc, while T. B. Smith acted as toast master.

SCANDINAVIAN LEAGUE.

The Scandinavian Prohibition league of Edmonton had a well attended and important meeting last night. Many reports were presented. The president of the league, P. H. Baukol, said that he had worked very hard and diligently finding out what the tactics of the liquor people are and was sorry to state that the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform league seems to be falling into some of the traps set by the License Victuallers' Association in order to render the leaders helpless and create confusion in the ranks of the temperance people.

Mr. Baukol also notified the league that the time had now come when they needed a man on the job all the time as there was work enough from now until election to keep a man busy night and day.

DARDANELLES BOMBARDMENT

LONDON, April 10—The allied fleet bombarded the forts in Dardanelles all day Sunday and part of Wednesday, but on other days this week everything was quiet in the straits according to the Daily Telegraph's correspondent.

NEWPAPER PUNISHED.

Paris, April 10—The Royalist newspaper Libre Parole has been ordered to suspend publication for 18 hours for publishing news which had not been approved by the censors. This is the second time the paper has been disciplined.

OFFICIAL HONOR FOR OFFICER WHO DODGED A "SUB"

Captain of Vosges Gets Distinguished Service Medal for His Efforts.

BOAT WAS UNDER FIRE BUT REFUSED TO STOP

Intention is to Encourage Merchantmen to Resist or Dodge. Submarine Attacks.

London, April 10.—The government's intention to encourage merchantmen to resist or dodge submarine attacks is emphasized by the official announcement today that Captain John Richard Green, of the steamer Vosges, sunk off the Cornish coast, March 27, by the shell fire of a German submarine, has been granted a commission as lieutenant in the royal naval reserve and is awarded the distinguished service medal. The other officers of the steamer have been given gold watches, and each member of the crew has received fifteen dollars.

The Vosges was under fire for more than two hours before she was sunk, her chief engineer being killed and two other officers and two members of the crew, as well as a woman passenger, being wounded. By skillful handling of his ship, Captain Green prevented the torpedoing of the ship and the submarine opened fire with her guns. The steamer was getting away from the submarine when a shell hit her funnel and her speed was reduced. As the Vosges was making water the captain ordered his passengers and crew into the boats. Captain Green stated later that the submarine kept up its fire, riddling the boats, and did not disappear until another vessel came on the scene.

German Torpedo Sinks French Three-Master

Letraport, France, April 10, 4.50 a.m.—The French three-masted ship Chateau Briand, from London for New York, with a cargo of chalk, was sunk by a German submarine off the Isle of Wight at 11 a.m. Thursday. The crew was saved.

Captain Grendin and the 24 members of the crew were given ten minutes by the German commander to launch their two boats. The Chateau Briand was then torpedoed. After drifting about all the rest of the day and all that night in bitter cold weather and without food, the crew sighted the French coast yesterday morning, landing here safely. The Chateau Briand is a ship of 2,329 tons and sailed from London, April 4th.

BRITISH MERCHANTS TOLD HOW TO SELL GOODS IN DOMINION

Mr. Hamilton Wickes Urges Them to Come Here and Study Canadians.

Montreal, April 10.—The Gazette's London correspondent, telegraphing last night, said: "How the markets of British goods abroad" was the subject dealt with by Hamilton Wickes, trade commissioner for Canada, tonight, before a largely attended meeting.

Mr. Hamilton Wickes admitted that young Englishmen abroad showed but a small degree of inquisitiveness. He advised British manufacturers to cross the ocean and study conditions in order to obtain the overseas conception of their ideas of short-coming. The success of the Canadian Club here, he said, indicated the preference of the British investors for dealing with other parts of the Empire.

A resolution of thanks to the speaker embodied an appeal to the government to increase the number of trade commissioners. A second resolution expressed the unanimous admiration of the gallant deeds of the Canadian contingent.

Within the last fortnight, Mr. Wickes has met numerous business people including representatives of patent medicine and perfumery interests.

Rome, April 10, 8:15 a.m.—Pope Benedict issued today a decree for the revival of prayers for peace in Roman Catholic churches over the world during the period of May. The prayers were composed by the Pope.

How Horses Were Bought In East For Army Purposes

H. F. Gadsby Tells of Some of the Scandals That Have Been Exposed in Public Accounts Committee During Its Recent Sessions

Copyrighted.

Every day is wash day in the Public Accounts Committee. At the present writing, for example, it's horses and spades that are being cleaned up—particularly horses.

Somebody has said that all's fair in love and horse trading. Even persons have been known to go wrong when it was a horse that was in question, so what wonder if the government's transactions demand a little investigating. Frank Carvell is handling the job as chief inquisitor and there are never less than three nervous cabinet ministers on the spot to see that he doesn't stumble into a mare's nest.

Briefly stated the horse story is this. With the first Canadian contingent there were available to be sent 8,486 horses, of which 7,818 were newly purchased and 668 belonged to the Permanent Forces. Of the 7,818 purchased 641 were bought in the west and were accompanied by the proper descriptive and vendors. The other 7,177 had no descriptions and no vouchers and were accepted, so to speak, on faith.

The horses from the west were bought at an average price of $110, but those from the mysterious east —which grows more mysterious about its horse trades the further east you go—brought an average figure of $173. Not that the horses were any better, perhaps, but that the vendors were keener and the buyers more eager.

Of the 8,486 horses available to be sent only 7,620 crossed the ocean. Of the 866 left behind 466 were sold at Quebec for an average price of $84 and 400 have never been heard of since. Rumor disposes of the missing 400 in various ways. Some died of advanced age at Valcartier while others were too bad-kneed to enough their heads off round the road to the glue factory or are now figuring as egg-layers around chicken and calves foot jelly. All these are mere whistles of fancy, however but ludicrous. On the whole it was a sad ending for four hundred horses that set out to uphold the bubble reputation at the cannon's mouth.

Although horse prices ranged from $125 to $225 in various parts of Canada the average paid the Union over was $173. So that Canada was out of pocket on the 641 horseracks sold at Quebec for $54 each something like $34,000, and on the 7,177 she was badly ripped for whatever to the Dominion treasury another $42,000—a total disbursement of $125,000 on the first batch of horses purchased. This does not represent the total loss, because the prices quoted are f.o.b. at the point of purchase, and do not include freight and fodder. One witness testified that there was a fine business done in slaughtering horses at Valcartier, and that he saw as many as eleven shot and handed over to the knackers in a single morning. Carnage to the glue factory must have cost something.

If the glue factory explained everything a committee could rest easy, but leered continues to gather in a most embarrassing fashion around the unlashed four hundred. Some say that they were on the list but never existed in the flesh—mere ghosts of horses, astral bodies of charges that remained at home where the cheques were paid and were present at Valcartier only in spirit. Some say they were bobbed substitutes for horses that missed the train to Valcartier, and that they died soon after the Auditor-General's. Some say—but what's the use of piling up conjectures. The fact remains that nobody knows what became of them any more than you or I know where Moses is buried. The horses are gone, and the vouchers, like labels on empty bottles, are marks of identity are gone with them.

Without going further in pursuit of these wild, weird horses, the committee gets down to brass tacks in the shape of Mr. Arthur De Witt Foster, M.P., who spent $72,000 for 428 horses in Kings, Hants and Annapolis counties, N.S. When I say spent I mean that $72,000 was placed to Mr. Foster's credit in the Bank of Montreal and the young M.P. issued cheques against the account for three times that sum. At the actual buying—E. H. Keever, a personal friend, T. C. Richards, M.P. for Halifax, and W. F. Mackay, secretary to John Stanfield the chief government whip.

Arthur De Witt Foster, M.P., King's County, N.S.—to which add Sir George—is the youngest member in the House of Commons. Four years ago newspaper reporting fame marked him for her own and seizing him gently by his foolish hair added him to Ottawa, where he made a great hit with his cheerful and quite boyish manner. Arthur was a college boy and he looked the part. He was elected on a temperance and social purity platform, and was a great favorite with the ladies. Even in time he became a real cute little politician and banged his desk and shouted "hear, hear" and laughed savagely at the Opposition on the slightest provocation. He developed along other lines, too—smoked a cigar with the corner of his mouth and never at the right angle of sixty degree counting from the side of his head—developed other forms of genius and presently Arthur was a broker selling black fox stock and things like that at his office in Sparks street.

It was there he became a financier—you can learn a lot from foxes, black or otherwise—and by the time the war broke out he knew his way round pretty well. He knew it so well in fact that somebody high up said: "Arthur, my boy, go and buy us 8,000 horses." Arthur said: "I do the best you can." And off he went on their did. It is at this point that the public accounts committee comes in. It is only fair to say that Arthur has nothing on Arthur—he did his work well.

As it is not etiquette to summon M.P.'s before the public accounts committee, the inquiry centres around W. F. Mackay, who had desk room along with Messrs. Keever and Woodworth in Mr. Foster's office in Sparks street.

These four young musketeers were all in the same business—black foxes—but according to Mackay's evidence they really knew as little of each other as my right hand knows of what my left hand is doing. Probably less than that. At any rate, we have Mackay's evidence that they did not exchange words more than once in two months and recognize each other by no more than anything else. No doubt this silence was due to the accusing petition in black fox stock at a period when the market for black fox was toboggoning. At all events they seldom spoke as they passed by. Mr. Mackay who has a pair of stormy eyes and an undershot jaw, said that he didn't care whether the committee believed him or not. Toward some things Mr. Mackay took that attitude, toward others he exhibited a loss of memory very alarming in a young man.

However, the war did one good thing. It brought these four almost total strangers in the same office together and presently Mr. Foster was acting as a fairy godfather to the party and acting adequately. Mr. Keever was acting as director general and Mackay and Woodworth were buying the horses under proper veterinary advice in Nova Scotia. They bought $72,000 worth, mostly using blanket cheques for the day's purchases, drawing the money themselves and distributing the cash personally to the lucky sellers. They took receipts, of course, and filed each card up with the name of the vendor, the price paid and the description of the animal—but all these records they handed over to Keever. They bought without summoning distance. Keever's whereabouts are shrouded in gloom, but Mackay definately left the country taking the black-and-white evidence with him. Woodworth is also absent in the body and as Mackay's memory is poor he cannot be counted on much further in that direction. Mr. Keever has vanished even more completely than the four hundred horses which are supposed to have wound up in the glue factory.

However, spades turned up trumps. Enter Colonel Stoneman, late of the Thirteenth Battalion, Hamilton, Ont., forty-five years a soldier, a gentleman of the old school, face like the sunset, a thoroughbred. Although retired for some years the colonel felt it his duty to take an interest in military matters. He gives a little monologue on the value of a militia system and war as she is now.

An entirely different matter, gentlemen, the colonel insisted, twisting his grey moustache. "A thing of spades and trenches, sir."

The word spades recalls the colonel from his excursus on military tactics to the point at issue and members of the committee have listened with becoming patience. Big producers of here a dozen of them—tell official answers from the President of France, the President of the United States (both per secretary), the British War Office, Lord Kitchener, and—the colonel's face softens—others, saying that they will look into his idea of an armored spade. Another of these letters is addressed W. S. Morrison, of the Headquarters Staff—and writes some days later—and another to Major-General Hughes, written since the war broke out. The colonel has been years to all these letters except the one to Major-General Hughes, and he is sure the letter from Lord Roberts. "Be sure to give that back to me. I wouldn't part with it for a hundred dollars."

"I got the idea," says the Colonel, "from an ace of spades. I always carry an ace of spades with me for luck. Something of the kind, I think, but the ace is my favorite card. The idea came to me six years ago and I at once communicated it to Colonel Morrison, who is a graduate of the R.M.C. and has become an artillery officer, but he learned his rudiments under me in the Thirteenth.

"The idea," here the Colonel produces blue prints "as drawn and approved by the draftsman to whom I submitted it. My notion was a trenching tool which could be used as a breastplate held in place by the handles in action or on the march, as a digging instrument when throwing up earthworks, and as an armour shield to screen the parapet once it was built up. The Continuous suggestion was a hole in the middle and shooting through it. A happy thought—I incorporated it."

"That was six years ago?" this from Mr. Carvell. "Did you write about it to Major General Hughes since the war broke out?"

"Exactly. Possibly the General has a lot to worry him. At all events he didn't answer my letter."

"Did it ever occur to you to patent your invention and make money out of it?"

"Make money out of my country's need?" The colonel's face blazed. "Bless your heart, no. The shield-spade idea is as old as the Crusades. The only new thing about my little spade is the hole in the middle, and you couldn't patent a hole could you?"

Whereat the committee laughed and the colonel retired wreathed in smiles. Just the same, somebody values the colonels idea more than he does himself for the shield-spade, hole and all, has been filed in the Patent Office at Ottawa, and Miss Ina Macnamara, stenographer-inchief to Major General Hughes, holds the patent. Moreover an order for twenty-five thousand shield-spades at $1.85 per spade is now being filed by the Mayvale Steel Company of Pennsylvania.

The Colonel seems to have served his country well by calling Major General Hughes' attention to an idea that was ripe enough to pick.

OVER PAR FOR $6,000,000.

Quebec, April 10—Tenders for a six-million dollar three-year or five-year five per cent. gold bond issue of the province of Quebec called for by the Bank of Montreal as financial agent, were opened yesterday by the Hon. Mr. Mitchell, provincial treasurer. Four tenders were received. The highest bid was that of Tucker, Anthony and Co., whose offer was slightly over par. It is understood the offer was accepted.

NO REQUESTS TO POPE.

Rome, April 10, via London.—Official denial of the report that Austria has asked the pope to act as her agent to obtain peace proposals is printed in the Osservatore Romano, the organ of the Vatican.

PROFESSIONAL SPRINTERS.

SALFORD, Eng., April 11.—W. R. Applegarth, on Saturday, defeated Jack Donaldson of Asterdale, in a 200-yard race here for the world's professional championship. The prize distance held by Donaldson. Applegarth's time was 22 2-4 seconds. Donaldson got the best start but Applegarth pushed to the front when half the distance had been covered and won handsomely by a yard.

In November, 1914, Applegarth won the world's 100-yard professional championship from Donaldson in Manchester.

NEWBURY SPRING CUP.

LONDON, April 10.—(Canadian Associated Press)—The Newbury spring cup, a handicap of £1,250, one mile, was won today by Lord Rosebery's Wrack, a five year old bay colt by Robert Le Diable-Samphire, starting at 10 to 1. Mr. Nolan's Human, 10 to 1, was second, and E. Hulton's Woodwild 20 to 1 was third. Eight horses started. Wrack won the same race last year from Bluestone and Branscepeth, starting favorite at 4 to 1.

SICK SOLDIERS IN TURKEY FALL LIKE NINE PINS

Conditions in the East Reported as "Unspeakable" by American Missionaries.

TYPHUS AND TYPHOID ADD TO WA RHORRORS

Epidemic in Servia Continues and the Death Rate Now is Appalling.

New York, April 10—Sanitary conditions in eastern Turkey are "unspeakable" according to reports from cities there, where the American board of foreign missions has hospitals made notable here today. Typhus and typhoid fever are raging. Physicians, missionaries, nurses and other Americans have caught the contagion. Hospitals are overflowing. All the schools in at least one district have been closed and sick soldiers are "toppling over like nine pins" it is said.

At Erzerum, where missions were established for the use of sick and wounded soldiers, Dr. Mr. Stapleton and his wife, who is a physician, were taken with typhus as well as their two children. Dr. E. P. Case, in charge of the American hospital there and his wife were likewise stricken. Two German women nurses, the druggist and the head Turkish doctor and nurse all were attacked in turn. There was no mention of fatalities.

"Sick soldiers are lying in the streets in the mud," says the report of conditions at Mersch. "In the military hospital they die at the rate of fifteen a day. In the American board hospital they are toppling over like nine pins."

Appalling In Servia.

London, April 10—The Athens correspondent of the Chronicle sends a statement of Capt. E. N. Bennett, of the British Red Cross commission to Servia who declares that conditions in Servia are growing worse and that the percentage of deaths from typhus is frightful. At Monastir, for example, the captain found 3,000 typhus patients and only ten doctors to attend them. He says that the death rate there was between fifty and sixty per cent.

FEDS START BALL SEASON IN STATES

Beat the National and American Leagues in Get-Away—Big Crowds Out.

Chicago, April 10.—Federal league clubs got the season today from 24 hours in advance of the start of play in the American and National leagues with games in Chicago, Baltimore, Kansas City and Brooklyn.

Big crowds turned out to see the opening day battles, according to reports received at the league headquarters. President Gilmore was present at the Kansas City-Pittsburg game. The chief executive of the Federals was enthusiastic over the prospects for the season and predicted the most prosperous season since the start of the league.

In Chicago the game was preceded by an automobile parade in which more than 500 machines took part, from Grant Park on the lake front to Weegham Park.

William Hale Thompson, mayor-elect of Chicago, tossed the first ball. Secretary of War Harrison, Governor Edward F. Dunne and other notables were a part of the ceremonies.

Claude Hendrix, veteran National leaguer, was the pitching selection for the Chicago team. Joe Tinker, manager of the St. Louis club, started Eddie Plank, former star of the Philadelphia Americans.

Manager Tinker planned to direct the play from the bench and put Jim Smith, a 19-year-old recruit, on a chance to display his skill at shortstop.

PRE-SEASON BASEBALL.

Washington, April 10—The Washington baseball team of the National League Nationals here yesterday 3 to 1. Harper held the champions hitless and runless for six innings, though he passed 12 men.

Philadelphia, April 10—The Philadelphia Americans yesterday defeated the local Nationals in the third game of the city series, 4 to 2. The series now stands 2 to 1 in favor of the Americans. Ira Thomas split a finger on his right hand during the game and Schang took his place behind the bat.

Cincinnati, April 10—The Boston Americans defeated the Cincinnati Nationals here yesterday in a close game 6 to 5.

FIRST DRESS REHEARSAL FOR BIG FESTIVAL.

The first rehearsal for the big festival chorus will be held this (Monday) afternoon in McKay avenue school at 8 o'clock. The committee will be glad to see any new members who wish to join.

THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER AT THE EMPIRE TODAY.

The approval of the length and breadth of America and Europe has been stamped on the musical enterprise, "The Chocolate Soldier," which will be presented with the full strength of the Whitney Opera company at the Empire for the entire week with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Any opera endowed with so perfect a story would gain peculiar distinction through that alone. But the supreme secret of "The Chocolate Soldier's" power, however, is the magic beauty of Straus' music, which expands into movement after movement and one after melody, each distinct in style and tone and each a musical masterpiece of melodic excellence. What was once regarded as an absurdity—the idea of acting Shaw's "Arms and the Man" as an opera—is in a manner that makes his present opera a mirror of perfected delight to the most naive amateur in music and a musical miracle to the trained musician who can appreciate the exceptionary effects that the composer has obtained. The entire production is characterised by the scenic elegance and wealth of local color and detail that brings the very land of Bulgaria close to everyone in the audience. Even the costumes are now something of a phenomena among light opera companies. Notable in the list are Eric Dudhand, as Nadina; Kitty Burke, as Maraita; Della Nixon, as Aurelia; Modeste Mack, as Lotti; John R. Phillips, as Lieut. Rumicili; Pacific Exposition, and one of the rest known sculptors of this country, died in a hospital here today.

NO ONE IS BLAMED.

Brooks, Alta., April 10.—Judge Carpenter's report on the investigation into affairs of the town of Brooks following the fire which destroyed the town hall and town records, has been received here. No blame was fixed on anyone for the fire and the town's troubles were caused principally by the poor start the first council gave the town and the lack of knowledge of the municipal act of the next council.

GERMANY'S PRISONERS.

Amsterdam, via London, April 10.—A dispatch received here from Berlin says that on April 1, 812,160 prisoners of war were held in Germany, 10,175 officers and 802,085 men. The dispatch gives the prisoners by nationality as follows: French, 2,565 officers and 238,486 men; Russians, 4,140 officers and 564,216 men; Belgians, 647 officers and 29,620 men; British, 526 officers and 26,567 men.

Senior Baseball Lge. Has Four Well Balanced Teams

Yancey and Tait Were Elimination Winners

Tait Stopped Symonds in First Round With Blow Over Solar Plexus —Macdonald Lasted Two Rounds With Yancey—C. Hardy Got Decision Over Woeten—Remainder of Bill Did Not Furnish Anything Startling

Billed as elimination bouts to decide the Edmonton Amateur Athletic club's representatives in the approaching Alberta championships, the contests between Yancey and Macdonald, and Tait vs. Symonds, left no room for discussion. Tait landed on Symonds' solar plexus in the first round of their bout, and earned the right to represent the club in the 125 pound class. Yancey, whose victory over Vance the previous Saturday has given him more confidence in himself, disposed of Macdonald, the shifty soldier in the second round. While the bout was stopped by Referee Scaler and the decision given to Yancey, it was virtually a knockout, as the soldier was "out on his feet."

While Saturday's program was arranged with great care, it was far from being the equal of the previous week's. Out of eight bouts, only three went the regulation three rounds, and two draw decisions were given by the judges. With the provincial championships approaching, it is high time every member of the club was in condition to go an extra round if the judges order same. The arena was only half-filled, the fans evidently holding off for the championship bouts.

Yancy is the Goods.

Yancey, who won a clean cut victory over Vance just a week ago, showed that his previous success was no fluke, by handing Macdonald a most artistic trimming. Yancey fights from the opening bell, and on Saturday fairly leapt from his corner, touched his opponent's gloves in perfunctory manner, and proceeded to unleash a hurricane of lefts and rights to the soldier's vitals. It did not take Macdonald long to make up his mind he was in for a busy few minutes, and by clever boxing he managed to stall off the bout Yancey for the first round. The second was a repetition with Yancey having all the better of the going, and driving in so many stinging blows that Macdonald was in a bad way when the referee stopped the bout. Yancey will represent the club in the Alberta championships.

The Tait-Symonds bout was short-lived. The men sparred with Symonds doing the leading, and after a few stiff blows had been exchanged Tait landed a stinging blow on Symonds' solar plexus and the boy from Calder dropped to the floor, writhing with pain. It was a good finish to and a surprise to Tait's adherents, for the big broad chested fighter outlands the slem producer on his opponent's jaw. Possessed of a knock-out punch in each glove, a beautiful judge of distance, and like a cat on his feet, Tait will prove a hard nut to crack for any young gentlemen who intend visiting Edmonton, on April 30 and May 1.

Weited Too Long.

As usual C. Hardy and Woeten put up a fine mill, in fact the best bout of the night. Hardy was quite content to allow his opponent to force matters in the first two rounds, and win by a margin, and it took some strenuous efforts by Hardy to even matters up in the final period. The judges gave the decision to Hardy, but in the opinion of many of the spectators it was a draw. Woeten is improving every time we see him, but condition race, but is still a long way removed from being Hardy's equal as a boxer. But the latter must start to pile up his points earlier in the bout, or some fine day his persistent foiling will just fail to bring him home winner.

None of the remaining bouts announced to have, secured a betting confidence by his absence. Harrison and Donald was 115 pound wrestling match on the program, and Donald should have won by a city block, but lacked the endurance. He had the advantage in weight and reach, but allowed his opponent to catch him napping in the second round and earn a draw. The same holds good for the Cecil-L. Hardy bout, Hardy had a shade the opponent like it cent in cleverness, but lacked the staying powers, and Cecil surprised everybody, including himself, by getting a draw. McDonald, the horsemen's entry, and Young from the Nest, two well-built fellows went on a lively bout while it lasted. So far as McDonald was concerned the Marquis of Queensbury might never have existed, and when in the fatal third round hitting in clinches became the favorite mode of procedure the soldier declined to continue. There was considerable difference of opinion as to the merits of the bout.

The Semi-Final Champion.

Stinson, a boy with only one blow, a right swing which he telegraphs five minutes in advance, won the John Dough championship from another candidate of the same name, Jamieson Godlly. The first round was fairly even but in the second Stinson sent Godlly on his back with a jolt that caused his opponent to see all the stars in the Dipper. But 30 seconds of the third round sufficed, and Stinson was awarded the palm.

McLellan, with a Jack Johnson haircut, slugged his way to victory over Deahan. Superior boxing and a very wise decision not to stand toe to toe and slug, carried Deahan through the first round, but in the next period the "peanut" landed a haymaker, and his opponent took a rest. It only took a short time in the third round for McLellan to show his superiority, and the bout was a thing of the past.

JESS WILLARD IN N. Y. EXHIBITION

World's Heavyweight Champion Was Given Great Reception in New York

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, April 11. — Jess Willard, world's heavyweight champion, arrived at 10.30 o'clock Saturday night and was greeted at the railroad station by a large and noisy thusiastic crowd, in which were many women. The special train de luxe from Philadelphia in an hour and 25 minutes. The throng paraded behind the champion up Seventh avenue to a local sporting club, where Willard spared for exhibition rounds with a sparring partner. Walter Monahan, and demonstrated the manner in which he administered Jack Johnson. In his exhibition the cowpuncher showed unexpected cleverness, his work in comparison to bouts in which he participated here.

CITY SOCCER LEAGUE.

An important meeting of the Edmonton City and District Association Football League will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday, April 13th, at 8 o'clock sharp. All clubs intending to enter in either division of the league for the ensuing season must be represented. Fees are payable at this meeting, and league registration cards will be handed out to the delegates.

INTERNATIONAL MEETING.

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, April 11.—James McCaffrey and Lawrence Solman of the Toronto A.C. formed the advance guard into this city tonight for the annual schedule meeting of the International league, which is to be held tomorrow.

Subject to the adoption of the schedule, which is a more important procedure this year than heretofore, on account of the baseball war and the clash of the league's interests with those of the Federal league in Newark and Buffalo, several other matters of importance are expected to come before the gathering. While President Barrow would not make any statement on the question tonight, it was reported that the Newark club had been given over to the Federal syndicate the members of which were to be made public tomorrow.

An additional report was that James Callahan, for several years the manager of the Chicago American league club, is the new leader of the Newark team.

CANUCKS LOSE PLACES.

NEW YORK, April 10.—All leaders but one in the championship tournament of the National Bowling association were changed today, Arthur Walter and Joseph A. Smith of Indianapolis, N.J., annexing the top in the doubles with 1,232 while the Marathons of Philadelphia came to the fore for the five-men with 2,879. Fred Clinch, former New York and now Chicago champion, now leads in the all-around events with 1,895.

Canadian bowlers have fallen back and Cattaranich and Labelle, Montreal, who are fourth in the doubles with 1,210, and Canadian stars, Monopoli and the Nationals, Montreal, third and fifth, respectively in the five-men event, are the only Canadians represented among the leaders.

EDDIE PLANK LOST HIS GAME FOR ST. LOUIS

Federals League Season Opened on Saturday With Four Good Games

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

CHICAGO, April 11—Eddie Plank making his debut as a Federal leaguer, was the victim of an eight inning batting rally which gave Chicago a chance of three runs and a 3 to 2 victory over St. Louis, in the opening game of the season, Saturday. Up to the eighth his crossfire baffled the locals, not one of whom reached third base, and his own double and Tutwiler's triple gave the visitors a one-run lead in the fifth. Three hits, a fielder's choice and a successful squeeze play gave Chicago three runs in the eighth.

ED. BARROW'S UMPIRES.

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Edward Barrow, president of the International league, has announced the appointment of his umpiring staff for this season. Four new men have been added, William B. Carpenter, Robert Hart, John Mullen and Peter Harrison have been signed with the new umpires are A. J. Cleary and Edward Eckman. Cleary started in the International league last year; Frank Brown, from the Three I league and Buck Freeman, from the defunct Tri-State league.

Mullin, who umpired in the International last season, has graduate into the American league, while Peter Harrison signed with the Federals. Rory resigned to go into business and Collihower was not offered a contract this year.

Mr. Barrow has completed the league schedule which expected to be adopted at a meeting in the city Monday and will be made public the latter part of the week.

Senior Baseball Stars Swarm to Diamond Pk.

Nearly 80 Candidates For the Four Teams in Senior Amateur League Worked Out on Saturday Afternoon—Goodly Crowd of Rail-Birds Viewed the Proceedings—Practice is Making Big Improvement in Every Team

When the Senior Amateur Baseball league was organized some few weeks ago, a few doubtful fans were under the impression that Edmonton could not produce sufficient players for four good teams. These pessimists should have been at Diamond Park on Saturday afternoon, when a regiment of ball players flooded the green sward confines of the ball orchard. Not content with the limited practice allowed each team some of the players spent the entire afternoon batting and batting the old ball around, until it would be strange if some of them did not have to treat their arms with extreme courtesy on Sunday. The usual practice routine will be observed this week. Two nights for the various teams are as follows: Monday, Edmonton City Juniors vs. Pollard's; Knights of Columbus; Wednesday, Wholesalers; Friday, Borden Club; Saturday's schedule will be published later in the week.

Bearcats' Good Practice.

Manager Drayton had company Borden Bearcats on hand this time decided to split the second and third nights' practice game, the first of the season. While the results were not to be executed, a lot of talent was brought to light by the games and the Wholesalers will be the strongest aggregation in the league, show lots of promise. Several of the regular were unable to be present Saturday, those in the line-ups being:

Naismith, Palmer, Butcher; Hanson and McAlister, pitchers; Stevens, 1b; Gray, 2b; Sinclair, ss; Pollard, 3b; Chipman 1f; Davison, cf; Reed, rf.

Federals—Dunlop, c; H. Grant and Mildon, pitchers; Bardsley, 1b; Heinie Cashman, ss; Ric. 3b; Fewdson, lf; Dunscomb, cf; L. Grant, rf.

Wholesalers' Regiment.

The Wholesalers did a right lively time in the field at three o'clock, while the Bearcats removed themselves to the shelters where they engaged in a practice game of "Hitchum." Later they did not divide their squad, the Wholesalers filed a good session to their practice and every man in attendance had a chance to show his ability at batting and fielding. The field practice was run through with Hanson on third, Mortlock, shortstop; Ferrier, second, and Duncan on first, with Root doing the receiving. Duncan was in particularly good form at first, and Ferrier looks like a certain starter. Later Mortlock, Duncan and Ferrier switched positions, and Bob Mackell took Harcourt's place on third. The Wholesalers are busy in having two such finished fielders for the difficult corner.

In addition to nine or ten candidates for the team whose names are as yet unknown to the sport editor, the following attended the practice: Darling, Clint Anderson, Blades, Tom Gerrison and A. H. Garrison. The Wholesalers practice again on the golf links, when the entire squad is asked to be on hand.

Kay Sees Work-Out.

The Knights of Columbus who open the league season with the Edmonton City Juniors, took possession of the diamond at the conclusion of the Wholesalers' practice. Saturday was evidently a poor day for the Kay Sees, many of their men being unable to get away from their places of business, and in consequence the turnout looked small, after the record attendance of the two previous practices. Manager Lawlor has a number of old heads and recruits and on Saturday's performance has picked up two likely looking youngsters in Chapman and Dwyer, who perform around the infield station. Warren did the receiving, while Pat and Tommy Maloney made their initial appearance of the season. While he was sloughing the ball hard at the batting workout Pat Maloney is pounds overweight, and it will take some earnest work to get him down to playing weight. Neither McDonald nor Murphy of the K of C Sees' pitching staff were on hand Saturday.

E. C. D.'s Good Infield.

The Edmonton City Dairy squad have an up to snuff infield at tackle in pitchers and the city champions are fortunate in having a batter made team at this stage of the training season. If Jack Irwin could turn in with the same style a batter made behind him last year, it is hard to say how he will do this season when he is backed up by an all star infield, good catchers and a strong outfield. Wood, Sheehan, Parsons, Martin, Irwin and Edmonton were among those present on Saturday, and their snappy fielding was a pleasure to watch.

NEW WESTMINSTER WANTS CON JONES TO BACK A TEAM

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

VANCOUVER, April 11. — New Westminster lacrosse players and officials at their annual meeting Saturday decided unanimously to approach Con Jones of Vancouver and ask him to again lead a Vancouver team against the Mints cup holders. Pat Feeney, one of the Westminster players, declared that Jones controlled lacrosse on the coast and in the east and without him in the running lacrosse would be dead.

Con Jones stated tonight that he was still hooked up with Victoria in the Western lacrosse league and he would have nothing to say until the Westminster club officials consulted him. If Victoria is unable to get a team he says he will join with New Westminster if the latter club puts up a bond to guarantee appearance at all games.

Joe Lally Orders Calgary to be Ready to Defend Phantom Mann Cup

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

CALGARY, April 11.—Formal challenge from the Excelsior Lacrosse club, Brampton, for a series of games with the Bisleys Chinooks for possession of the Mann cup was received by the local club yesterday. The challenge is forwarded by Trustee Joe Lally, who asks the club to accept the dates requested, if possible.

He states that there will be no backing down on the part of the trustees in their decision that the trophy will come to Calgary and that and as soon as he finishes his lacrosse missionary tour in the east he will go to the coast and make the first of the meetings against the V.A.C.

If the Alberta amateur union still holds that Kendall, the man who caused the dispute is a professional.

Around the City

Joins Grain Growers' Guide Staff—Mr. H. Higginbotham, formerly of the Bulletin is in the city for a few days. Mr. Higginbotham has just completed a two-year course at the Provincial School of Agriculture at Olds, and has joined the staff of the Grain Growers' Guide as field representative for the three prairie provinces.

New Advertising Manager.—Elmer U. Pugsley for the past year advertising manager of the Hudson's Bay Company stores here, has been promoted to the position of advertising manager for the company at Winnipeg. Mr. Pugsley left for the East on Saturday night. The position of advertising manager of the stores here will be filled by Cliff Dunham, who already has assumed his new duties. Mr. Dunham has many friends in the city who will wish him success in his new position.

Ball Held at Leduc.—The young men and bachelors of the thriving little town of Leduc entertained the married folk last Friday evening by giving a dine ball in their honor. The weather was very fine and the hall was filled to its utmost. Those having the arrangements in hand are to be congratulated for their pains in preparing everything so carefully, which made the affair the success that it was. Barker's orchestra of Edmonton was in attendance and rendered a very pleasing program of the latest variety.

Ross Flats Concert and Social.—Saturday in the Ross Flats Presbyterian Sunday school, a social and concert was given by the ladies connected with the Mothers' Red meetings. Mrs. M. Thoms presided. Addresses were given by Mrs. D. G. McQueen and Miss A. Coutts deaconess. The program consisted of songs, "My Ain Folks," "Come Ye to Annie," by Mrs. Clark; "My Own True Love" by Miss Blyth; "I Hardly Think I will," by Mrs. Glassow; recitations, "Maggie McNab's Courtship," by Mrs. Ewart; "Ane o' Kitchener's" by Mrs. Dunseith. A highly interesting playlet, "Seeing a Servant," by Misses Clark, Ewart, Anderson, Allan, Westwebb, G. West and Mrs. Dunseith was much appreciated. Miss Gilmour and were encored and the crowded audi-

OPENING THE GOLF SEASON

On Thursday, April 15, Victoria Park will be opened up to golfers and the official golfing season will commence. On and after that date 25c will be charged as usual for the use of the golf links. The annual fee for men will be $10.00 and for ladies $7.50, and the rules and regulations governing the links in 1914 will apply during 1915.

The question of encouraging the younger generation to use the links and have the boys and girls of the city taught to play golf will be dealt with at a later date, the commissioners announce, as it will be necessary, owing to the number of those who desire to play golf, to regulate the hours in which children may play.

Last year, according to the records, over eight thousand individual games were played over the course and at times those playing were too numerous for the links, consequently a supervisor was put in charge to see that a certain space of time intervened between parties being allowed to play. This added both to the pleasure and the safety of the golfers. The Victoria Park last year the following basic bodies held picnics: Hudson's Bay Company employees numbering about 200; First Baptist church Sunday school, numbering about 250; Salvation Army numbering about 300; Brotherhood of Carpenters numbering about 500; International Harvester Co., numbering about 100; Garman Club numbering about 250; Scandinavian Association numbering about 50; Knights of Columbus numbering about 5,000; making a total in round figures of seven thousand who used the park in connection with organized picnics. It is estimated that about ten thousand people during the season used the park in connection with private picnics, etc.

This year the Borden Club of Edmonton have already requested that they be allowed to hold a picnic in Victoria Park on May 24th. As the grounds are getting in excellent shape and it is an early spring an enjoyable time should be spent.

ACTIVITIES FOR UNITARIAN CHURCH

At the quarterly meeting of the Unitarian congregation yesterday morning, it was announced that the third anniversary banquet would be held in the church building Friday evening, April 23rd.

On the following day at 2 p.m. friends of the congregation are requested to be present on the church grounds with rakes and hoes to aid in the completion of the day's work of beautify the premises, under the leadership of Mr. Somers.

A resolution of appreciation was unanimously adopted commending the work of Miss Anna Dickinson, superintendent of the Unitarian Sunday School.

Mr. Potter's sermon of yesterday was a rendition by request of his week-night orientalal pastor celebration address of Feb. 17th on "Islam as a Social Force in England and America," fully reported at that time in these columns.

OLD PROSPECTOR OF NORTH IN CITY

Henry James, Who Went Over Dawson Trail in '98, in Edmonton

Henry James, veteran prospector, and who went over the Dawson trail in '98, arrived in the city yesterday morning on the 8.5 and C. S. At the time of the Yukon gold excitement, Mr. James was at Sheridan, Wyoming, engaged in raising cattle. Making up a party of eight from neighboring ranches they set out the way to Edmonton. All of the distance was made on horse back. From here the party struck out for the Yukon, Edmonton being the way to the Yukon. Like all men who have lived long in the land of the "midnight sun," Mr. James is quiet, retiring and though he has many stories of adventure and hardship that would do fiction writers' produce, he hardly ever speaks of them. On the trip in five of the party of eight died of scurvy, beyond Hudson's Hope.

Untold Wealth in North.

Mr. James has mined extensively in the vicinity of the Laird, Parsnip and Findlay rivers and states that there is untold wealth lying in these regions. Hundreds of men are now in there at the present time and men are coming in all the time. Men go out, some with good stakes of raw gold. But the outside world hears little of the failures, comparatively few successful ones—do not talk.

The following party, however, of two Austrians, who went out to Seattle in the fall of 1912 with nearly thirty thousand in raw, coarse nugget gold. Mr. James related to the writer, who was a reporter who, reading the same trash from the northland.

The two Austrians, some out from the old world country to Hasleton on the G.T.P. in the fall and wintered in Seattle. They spent money plentifully, even flourishing some of their gold. When they left in the spring they were followed by five men who had got a line on them during the winter. The Austrians returned into the country with the other party and by the time they reached then neither party has ever been heard of, and Mr. James expressed it as his opinion that they met with foul suffered a similar fate to that of the Masleod brother in the Nahanni mountains about three years ago.

The three great landslides to the north promising to be a country rent. Difficulty of moving provisions in large quantities for the trade, such as at the box canyon of the Liard, which somewhat resembles the Frazer canyon of the Fraser, and lastly, the hostile Indians.

"Few people," said Mr. James, "appreciate what a wonderfully vast land it is. There are inaccessible places there where white men have never been."

Fond Du Lac Strike.

Regarding the silver strike at Fond Du Lac, Mr. James spoke with knowledge of it. He had had a report upon it nearly a year before, from a Hudson's Bay man, who had some of the samples; but not being a mineralogist did not know what they were. Mr. James examined them and found them fairly rich in silver.

The veteran prospector will spend a short time in the city before returning north.

GROUARD MERCHANT COMES TO CITY WITH $10,000 WORTH FURS

S. L. Smith, prominent general merchant of Grouard and operating a string of stores throughout the north country, arrived in the city Sunday morning on the E. D. & B.C. with 29 bales of fur valued at $10,000. This price is, of course, war prices. Had it been in previous years the same shipment would have brought in the neighborhood of $40,000. In the collection were forty silvers, three hundred reds, a large number of mink furs, marten, cross foxes, bear, wolf and other fur bearing animals.

According to Mr. Smith this has been one of the greatest years for fur in many years, and Grouard has been a particularly busy centre, over one hundred thousand dollars' worth of raw pelts being brought in to that point. The Trout and Mink Lake centres, north and east of Grouard, are two of the principal districts from which number one pelts come.

F. Maroney is clerk in charge of the S. L. Smith stores, accompanied Mr. Smith. Mr. Maroney is one of the real fur experts in the north and has been engaged wholly in handling the extensive tradings of the company in this line.

A particularly large contingent of Grouard people arrived yesterday from the north on pleasure and business bent. Among some of the best known were Col. W. F. W. Carstairs, Agent Dominion Lands, Grouard; H. S. Price, barrister; L. Wenger, local sale merchant; Mrs. Wender and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Brosseau, Assiniboia; Sheriff Fred Marshall P. Costello, J. Duffy, E. Raymond and A. J. Kerr, manager of Revillon Bros., and F. J. Dickie, Edmonton newspaper man.

J. G. Mackay, head of the firm of Mackay, Hanley and Boyd, who has been on an extended trip through the north country also arrived back.

With the E. D. & B. C. now penetrating into the northland as far as Round Lake the long time formerly occupied by a trip in, not to speak of the hardships of the trail, are done away with, and the railway is aiding greatly to the speedy carrying out of business which formerly took many weeks and even months before completion.

INGERSOLL'S RELIGION DISCUSSED AT FORUM.

At the People's Forum last night the attendance was large, to hear a discussion on "The Religion of Robert G. Ingersoll," led by J. W. Adair. This religion, the speaker said, was a belief in brotherhood, cooperation and progress coupled with an enormous hope for immortality. Ingersoll, he said, was not an irreligious man, but an uncompromising foe of man-made dogmas, not authorized by the Bible, he added to it by inference.

In the discussion that ensued, Rev. C. J. Potter spoke of Ingersoll as another John the Baptist, a fore-runner who cleared the way for the coming of Jesus and the future when religion and democracy should travel together.

Others who discussed the subject were W. B. Turner, W. H. Fread, S. G. Hyman, Edwin Poole and J. T. Datt.

Among the musical features of the program was the singing by D. G. Thomas of President E. A. Smith's new song of democracy, "Meet Us in the Line," in which the audience joined in the chorus.

Next Sunday evening, Theophilus Moor will be the leading speaker on the subject, "The Disease and the Remedy."
